7 Countries Set 2-Level Gold System

WASHINGTON (AP) — A two-level gold pricing system took effect today as the gold pool governments halted the flow of metal from their treasuries into the fevered speculative markets.

Cablegrams sped to all capitals reporting Sunday night's decision by the seven central bankers at their weekend meeting in Washington—and inviting all countries to join in maintaining the established $35 an ounce price for all transactions between governments.

But the rest of the world's gold was set free to find its own price.

London Pool Dissolved

The London gold pool was, in effect, dissolved. The London gold market—biggest of all, and the one which supplied most of the gold to other markets—was ordered to stay closed until April 1.

U.S. officials radiated confidence that the frenzied speculative attacks on the dollar would die away. Most Congressmen were pleased and relieved. London was dubious. Paris saw the action as a stopgap, not a solution.

And no official ventured a public guess on where the free market price would go when the Paris, Zurich, Hong Kong and other markets reopened. Some guessed: Up for a time, then down. In the wild trading in Paris last week, the price reached $44.36.

Sharp Break Seen

Others expected a sharp break from the speculative highs, if enough speculators decided to disgorge gold in the belief that the two-tier plan has hurt their prospects of fat profits.

Among all the uncertainties, these results were assured:

1. The rate of exchange between dollars and other currencies will stay put. Those American travelers who suddenly could not spend dollar bills or cash travelers checks overseas should have no more trouble.

2. The pound sterling has been bolstered further. The six other countries which have supplied gold to the London pool are increasing to $4 billion the total of currency credits available to hard-pressed Britain. Their previous commitments were not disclosed, but the increase is known to be substantial.

U. S. Halts Sales

3. On the home front, jewelers and other licensed users of gold can no longer buy from the Treasury. The Treasury will continue to issue licenses to legitimate users, however, and the holders can buy on the free market here or overseas.

None of the governments, the seven bank governors said, will henceforth sell to private buyers or buy from private sellers.

Troops Halt Assault By Communists

Enemy's Stopped By Machine-Gun Fire And Mortars

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese rangers fought off another attack on Khe Sanh today and allied troops sweeping around Saigon claimed an enemy death toll exceeding 800 in the first week of their big drive.

About 600 North Vietnamese soldiers charged from their trenches, some as close as 20 yards from the outer barbed wire, in their second attack this month on the South Vietnamese position at Khe Sanh.

A sheet of machine-gun fire from the rangers' trenches and U.S. Marine mortars drove the enemy away after about an hour. There was no report of casualties on either side, but the North Vietnamese could be seen dragging away dead and wounded men.

U.S. spokesman said the attack was a "strong probe" against the northwest frontier combat base, where the 400 rangers and some 6,000 U.S. Marines have been braced for several months for a major assault by an estimated 40,000 enemy troops around the fortress.

Enemy gunners fired about 500 shells at the Khe Sanh base Sunday, the heaviest barrage in more than a week. U.S. B52 bombers flew three raids against enemy positions.

In the 50,000-man operation Quyet Thang—Resolve To Win—around Saigon, South Vietnamese infantrymen came under fire from guerrillas dug in at the village of Tram Lak, 17 miles northwest of Saigon.

Associated Press photographer Al Chang, with the troops, said the infantrymen held their line while two tanks and 20 armored personnel carriers of the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry moved up and began blasting the enemy positions from within 50 yards.

Air strikes also were called in. At dusk, the allied troops secured the area and reported 84 guerrillas killed but only one American and one South Vietnamese wounded.

REV. PALMER had spoken here last week at the Fellowship Gospel Tabernacle on W. 7th St. He served as pastor of the Oakland Free Methodist Church here 48 years ago and now operates a city mission at Camden, N.J., and a children's camp and adult campgrounds at Pleasantville.

Hike Would Yield Total Of $84,000

Rising Operating Costs Pointed To As Need For Move

Council is scheduled tentatively to act tonight on an ordinance that would boost the city income tax to a full one per cent, an increase of two-tenths of one per cent, to yield an estimated $84,000 additional for 1968 to help meet increased operating expenses.

If approved, the hike would go nto effect April 1. Since the present rate is eight-tenths of one per cent—which costs the taxpayer 80 cents on each $100 of income—the new rate would cost an even $1 for each $100 of earnings.

But the amendment to the tax ordinance will continue a credit for East Liverpool residents who pay income taxes in other communities — affecting primarily local workers at the Midland Division of the Crucible Steel Co.

THE PRESENT tax credit of four-tenths of one per cent will be cut to three-tenths of one per cent. Persons employed out of town now pay four - tenths of one per cent locally—40 cents on each $100 of earnings—if they're paying income taxes in the community where they're employed.

In the amendment, with a credit of three - tenths of one percent against a one per cent tax, persons employed out of town will pay seven-tenths of one per cent locally, or 70 cents on each $100 of earnings.

East Liverpool residents employed at Crucible also pay a one per cent tax to Midland. Approximately two years ago, Council granted tax credits to local persons working out-of-state and also cut in half the levy paid by residents of other states working here.

The change was made in hopes Midland would grant reciprocity to Ohioans working there, but no such change was made. The net effect was to decrease East Liverpool's revenue from the income tax with-

Dies At Youngstown

Injuries In Fight Fatal To Man, 52

A 52-year-old Maplewood man died about 4 a. m. today in North Side Hospital at Youngstown of head injuries suffered early Sunday on Dresden Ave. when he fell to the sidewalk after being struck by another man, police reported.

The victim was identified as Elwood Leigh of 713 Garner Ave., an electrician and a former cab driver, who was injured in the incident at 2:28 a.m. Sunday on Dresden Ave. about 36 feet north of Green Ln.

Police identified the assailant as Edward Charnock of rear 418 E. 4th St. He was charged initially with assault and battery.

SHORTLY after the injury, Mr. Leigh was admitted to City Hospital. He was transferred at 1:40 this morning to the Youngstown hospital, where he died less than three hours later.

Lt. Paul A. Burson Jr., who was on foot in the Diamond at the time, witnessed the incident in which he said Mr. Leigh was injured. He said his attention was attracted first when he saw two men and a woman on Dresden Ave. and "heard a noise like people in a disagreement."

Then, he reported, he saw a man later identified as Charnock strike Mr. Leigh and saw the Maplewood man fall, striking his head on the sidewalk. Lt. Burson said he saw only one blow.

When he arrived at the scene a moment later, Mr. Leigh was unconscious and was bleeding from the nose and mouth, the officer reported.

The third person at the scene was identified as Mrs. Lucy V. Leigh of the Ceramic Hotel on E. 4th St. Police said she is Leigh's estranged wife.

Burson said the Mahoning County coroner's office reported Mr. Leigh died of a fractured skull.

Relative To Revised Policy On Vietnam

Hot Political Blasts Touched Off As Result Of Kennedy's Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and the Johnson administration have exchanged politically explosive charges over the New Yorker's proposal to stay out of the presidential race if U.S. policy in Vietnam were revised.

High administration sources labeled as an ultimatum Kennedy's proposal that President Johnson appoint a blue-ribbon panel to work on war policy revisions. They said Johnson spurned it as a totally unacceptable political deal.

Kennedy acknowledged Sunday he proposed the commission, but called published reports on it distorted and blamed that on White House leaks to news media.

"This incident reveals in the sharpest possible terms why the American people no longer believe the President and the White House; why the credibility of our political leadership has been so critically eroded and why it is clear that the only way we are going to change our policy in Vietnam is to change administrations in Washington."

Kennedy Statement

In a 1,500-word statement, Kennedy said he told Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford last Thursday that his candidacy wouldn't be necessary if Johnson accepted the commission proposal.

Kennedy put it this way:

"I made it clear that if it (the commission) were more than a public relations gimmick, if both the President's announcement of the commission and its membership signalled a clear-cut willingness to seek a wider path to peace in Vietnam, then my declaration of candidacy would no longer be necessary."

But the administration source said Kennedy demanded that any statement announcing the commission indicate that Johnson had "grave doubt of the wisdom of his past course and that was why this reappraisal was necessary."

The source said Kennedy wanted to be on the commission and presented to Clifford a list of other possible members.

LBJ Rejects Proposal

Johnson immediately rejected the proposal, the source said, on grounds it smacked of a political deal, cast doubt on his Vietnam policies, might encourage North Vietnam to think U.S. resolve was weakening and fur-

Tax

out affecting Midland's to any great degree.

THE CHANGE in the tax law will be introduced as an amendment to the present ordinance, which means the legislation will be comparatively brief.

The present ordinance, with its rate of eight-tenths of one per cent, was approved at the polls by voters in November 1963 when it was put to a referendum test. It was approved with more than 600 votes to spare.

The present tax yields approximately $335,000 a year. The estimate of $84,000 in additional revenue for 1968 is based on the fact that only three quarters of the current year will remain after the higher rate goes into effect.

Consideration of the new tax rate is a forerunner to presentation of the annual appropriation ordinance. It initially had been scheduled for presentation tonight, but Council could not put the appropriation into final form until it was certain of the city's estimated income for the year.

That means that the appropriation ordinance probably will be completed this week — assuming the tax raise passes tonight — and presented at a special meeting next Monday night.

STATE LAW grants a City Council the authority to raise a municipal income tax to a full one per cent without a prior vote of the people. If it goes beyond one per cent, the public must approve at the polls. East Liverpool has had an income tax in an off-and-on status since 1958, since the first was passed during the administration of former Mayor Fred P. Lawrence.

Officials said there is no way to maintain municipal services at their current level without additional revenue, a situation that developed from steadily rising operating costs.

For instance, the street department finished 1967 with approximately $23,000 in unpaid bills that still are gathering dust.

Other new costs were assumed last year that must be met annually. The city took over payment of hospital insurance premiums for dependents of employes in 1967. It also assumed the cost of employes' life insurance premiums. That new "fringe benefit" cost the city $24,000 to $25,000 yearly.

Employes also were given a general pay raise, a continuing expense. When wages go up, the cost of the city's contribution to the Public Employes Retirement System also goes up, as the PER contributions are based on a per centage of wages.

Last year, the city also took on a $600-a-month subsidy to a private ambulance service after funeral homes here discontinued their free services. That feature costs the city $7,200 a year.

Charges

Newsweek magazine quoted a White House aide as calling the proposal "the damndest piece of political blackmail" he had ever heard of.

Kennedy, saying he was surprised that "the traditional rules of confidence governing White House conversations are no longer respected by the White House itself," charged published versions of the affair "fall so short of the truth that I believe the American people are entitled to the facts."

Kennedy said Johnson had first appeared interested in the proposal but later rejected it, in part—said the senator—because he didn't want Kennedy on the commission.

Leads To Decision

Kennedy said subsequent talks between the White House and Theodore Sorensen, the former aide to President John F. Kennedy who presented the proposal to Johnson, made it clear that:

"... So long as Lyndon B. Johnson was President our Vietnam policy would consist of only more war, more troops, more killing and more senseless destruction of the country we were supposedly there to save.

"That night I decided to run for president."

That night was Thursday, three days after Kennedy said Sorensen first broached the matter with Johnson after responding to what the senator said was a presidential invitation to visit the White House.

Kennedy Relates Story

Kennedy said the commission idea originated last February with an unnamed "Democratic political leader who is a friend of mine and supporting President Johnson for re-election." The New Yorker said Sorensen "did not get this idea from me, was not representing me, did not propose me as a member and did not tie the idea" to the senator's prospective candidacy.

Kennedy said the White House called Sorensen two days later —on Wednesday—and told him the President was going to pursue the commission concept and wanted a list of names.

The senator and Sorensen met the following day with Clifford. Kennedy said they explored the idea, "not as a proposal by either of us, not as a help to me, but as a means of helping President Johnson move away from our present disastrous course in Vietnam."

Kennedy said he told Clifford he would serve on such a commission "but did not insist on that; and I stated that I should not be chairman."

Panel Discussed

The senator said among names he and Sorensen suggested for the panel were Edwin Reischauer, former U.S. ambassador to Japan; Roswell Gilpatrick, former deputy secretary of defense; Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Sens. George Aiken, R-Vt., and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.; Yale President Kingman Brewster; Gens. Lauris Norstadt and Matthew Ridgeway; and Carl Kaysen, former National Security Council assistant under President Kennedy.

Kennedy said Johnson had told Clifford of the idea in advance. He said the defense chief promised the talks would be kept confidential.

The administration source said Sorensen set up the meeting with Clifford. Being a longtime friend of both Kennedy and Sorensen, Clifford was said not to have felt there was anything unusual about the meeting.

Clifford was told by Kennedy, the source said, that the senator had been under great pressure to get into the presidential race.

But Kennedy was said to have stated he would not feel obliged to become a candidate if he could compel—through the commission concept—a change in Vietnam policy.

The White House had no official comment on Kennedy's statement. The Pentagon confirmed that Clifford, Kennedy and Sorensen met but declined comment on what was said.

The CBS and ABC networks and Time magazine along with Newsweek first reported the Kennedy proposal and Johnson's reaction in largely similar accounts.

A Salineville man was injured in a one - car mishap Saturday at 2:30 a.m. on Route 30, five miles east of the Stark County line, officers said.

and Wellsville have authorized its proposal amounts to a wage boost of 7½ per cent.

"This is a good offer and a fair one, by any reasonable standards," Boyer said. "It is in line with settlements being made in other industries and it a strike in the bargaining efforts.

The company estimated that certainly deserves the most serious consideration by the union leadership."

For the 6,700 plant department craftsmen, including telephone installers, equipment maintenance men and cable splicers, the offer would mean an average weekly wage hike of $9.90. The range of increases for these craftsmen would be from $7.50 to $12 a week.

In East Liverpool the proposal would bring the new top rate for the highest - rated craftsmen to $164 a week.

Basic wages for operators, service representatives and clerical workers would be increased from $4 to $8 a week. In East Liverpool the maximum rate for operators would be raised to $100 a week, and the service representatives new top would be $109.

Other contract improvements would include increased company contributions to the medical and hospitalization plans for employees, and to the group insurance program.

Leads To Decision

Kennedy said subsequent talks between the White House and Theodore Sorensen, the former aide to President John F. Kennedy who presented the proposal to Johnson, made it clear that:

"... So long as Lyndon B. Johnson was President our Vietnam policy would consist of only more war, more troops, more killing and more senseless destruction of the country we were supposedly there to save.

"That night I decided to run for president."

That night was Thursday, three days after Kennedy said Sorensen first broached the matter with Johnson after responding to what the senator said was a presidential invitation to visit the White House.

Kennedy Relates Story

Kennedy said the commission idea originated last February with an unnamed "Democratic political leader who is a friend of mine and supporting President Johnson for re-election." The New Yorker said Sorensen "did not get this idea from me, was not representing me, did not propose me as a member and did not tie the idea" to the senator's prospective candidacy.

Kennedy said the White House called Sorensen two days later —on Wednesday—and told him the President was going to pursue the commission concept and wanted a list of names.

The senator and Sorensen met the following day with Clifford. Kennedy said they explored the idea, "not as a proposal by either of us, not as a help to me, but as a means of helping President Johnson move away from our present disastrous course in Vietnam."

Kennedy said he told Clifford he would serve on such a commission "but did not insist on that; and I stated that I should not be chairman."

Panel Discussed

The senator said among names he and Sorensen suggested for the panel were Edwin Reischauer, former U.S. ambassador to Japan; Roswell Gilpatrick, former deputy secretary of defense; Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Sens. George Aiken, R-Vt., and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.; Yale President Kingman Brewster; Gens. Lauris Norstadt and Matthew Ridgeway; and Carl Kaysen, former National Security Council assistant under President Kennedy.

Kennedy said Johnson had told Clifford of the idea in advance. He said the defense chief promised the talks would be kept confidential.

The administration source said Sorensen set up the meeting with Clifford. Being a longtime friend of both Kennedy and Sorensen, Clifford was said not to have felt there was anything unusual about the meeting.

Clifford was told by Kennedy, the source said, that the senator had been under great pressure to get into the presidential race.

But Kennedy was said to have stated he would not feel obliged to become a candidate if he could compel—through the commission concept—a change in Vietnam policy.

The White House had no official comment on Kennedy's statement. The Pentagon confirmed that Clifford, Kennedy and Sorensen met but declined comment on what was said.

The CBS and ABC networks and Time magazine along with Newsweek first reported the Kennedy proposal and Johnson's reaction in largely similar accounts.

3 Lisbon Residents Hurt As Car Rolls Over Twice

Three Lisbon residents were injured Sunday when a sports convertible in which they were riding went out of control on Route 14 and rolled over twice, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reports.

"Fair" at Salem City Hospital is Ronald James Guappone, 22, of N. Market St., Lisbon, operator of the auto, with lacerations of the scalp, bruises and contusions.

"Fairly good" were passengers in the Guappone car, Robert J. Mix, 19, of 111 S. Green St., Lisbon, bruises of the body and face, and William B. Thompson, 23, of 334 E. High St., Lisbon, lacerations of the scalp, right ear and both hands and contusions of the back and both knees.

Officers said the Guappone auto was demolished in the mishap which occurred about a mile north of Township Rd. 858 at 7:18 p.m.

Both vehicles were damaged when a car and a truck collided at the intersection of County Rd. 430 and Route 170 Sunday at 5:20 p.m.

The accident happened 1½ miles north of Route 30 when a 1963 coach operated by Joseph William Hoppel, 21, of East Liverpool RD 3, northbound moved diagonally from a gas station on Route 170, turned east onto County Rd. 430 and was struck on the left side by a 1966 pickup truck operated by Daniel L. Myers, 17, also of East Liverpool RD 3, the patrol reported.

Officers said the Myers truck was westbound on County Rd. 430 and was attempting a left turn.

A Salineville man was injured in a one - car mishap Saturday at 2:30 a.m. on Route 30, five miles east of the Stark County line, officers said.

Ronald T. McClosky, 31, of 113 E. Main St., Salineville, was injured when his 1959 coach, eastbound, went off the south side of the road, struck a utility pole and a tree, then came to rest on its top in a canal.

McCloskey was treated at City Hospital for lacerations of the left hand.

"This is a good offer and a fair one, by any reasonable standards," Boyer said. "It is in line with settlements being made in other industries and it a strike in the bargaining efforts.

The company estimated that certainly deserves the most serious consideration by the union leadership."

For the 6,700 plant department craftsmen, including telephone installers, equipment maintenance men and cable splicers, the offer would mean an average weekly wage hike of $9.90. The range of increases for these craftsmen would be from $7.50 to $12 a week.

In East Liverpool the proposal would bring the new top rate for the highest - rated craftsmen to $164 a week.

Basic wages for operators, service representatives and clerical workers would be increased from $4 to $8 a week. In East Liverpool the maximum rate for operators would be raised to $100 a week, and the service representatives new top would be $109.

Other contract improvements would include increased company contributions to the medical and hospitalization plans for employees, and to the group insurance program.

Telling The Ohio Story

Competition for new plants and expansion of established industry is heating up—and Ohio is right in the middle of it.

Gov. Rhodes' theme: "Profit is not a dirty word in Ohio," has been spread far and wide. His philosophy of bringing new business to Ohio to give jobs to Ohioans and boost the state's economy has been put into action by the Ohio Development Board.

Ohio's industrial growth record for last year was one of the best in the nation. New industry, new jobs and new tax dollars mean new vitality for communities and economic progress for the state.

It means more than that.

Many states are trying to land industry. Each is putting its best foot forward. Ohio has to have enough going for it to outshine other states working hard to attract not only new business, but enterprise already established in Buckeyeland.

Aside from the usual enticements of tax exemptions, favorable financing programs, available labor force and adequate sites, other factors are considered by prospective businesses.

Two important areas are recreational facilities and educational systems. Ohio has moved to upgrade both. Improvement has benefitted established Ohio residents.

Businessmen roving the country attempting to line up new industry for Ohio are dubbed "Rhodes Raiders." The Ohio story has to be told.

Ohio has much to offer any corporation ready to build a new plant. A favorable tax and financing climate in the transportation center of the Midwest helped lure 574 new plants to Ohio last year.

Ohio has much to offer employes transferred into the Buckeye state. Metropolitan areas offer a full range of cultural pursuits. Smaller communities are only minutes away from advantages of cities because of adequate highway links.

In addition, Ohio is a fascinating tourist attraction, steeped in history and capable of providing a wide range of amusements strictly in the fun category.

There is no better way to find out about weakness of Ohio than by the harsh light of competition with other states. Any improvements that come from such a comparison will help keep Ohio at the forefront in the race for industry and make it a better place to live for those who already call it home.

Preparing For The Jousts

Not only is the Vietnam war a morass of confused thinking and unclear goals for many Tri-State Area residents, injection of it as an issue into the muddy arenas of politics has dulled the colors on some pennants of allegiance to individuals and causes and will change a lot more.

Democratic reaction to Sen. Robert Kennedy's entry into the party's presidential nomination contests revealed a number of interesting studies in verbal acrobatics.

There is nothing more awkward for a party stalwart than a primary election battle, for the wrong endorsement can mean the end of the line.

Most Johnson backers were generally vehement in their condemnation of RFK, for the President in office, and his party demand loyalty which is fundamentally obvious in its entrenched strength.

But there is an edginess among some other party members, particularly where the Kennedy attractiveness could prove a power.

One district Democrat, quizzed early Saturday morning by newsmen about the bid by Bobby, termed him a "Johnny-come-lately" who didn't have much of a chance.

The party man telephoned back later to indicate his stand had become more neutral. There is a lot of support switching scheduled for Democrats and Republicans in the coming months, especially when—and if—the platforms and proposals of the candidates and parties become a bit more concrete and better understood.

Voters, meanwhile, face a grave task of learning all they can about the U. S. and the world in 1968 so an intelligent decision can be rendered in November.

Check That Pain

Low-grade television commercials and numerous jokes have produced an aura of humor around a problem that directly affects 1 of every 12 Americans and indirectly affects many others — the headache.

Researchers of the World Commission for the Study of Headache report there is more to a headache than a simple pain in the head.

Studies so far have shown curing headaches, in some cases, involves an adjustment in the personality of the sufferer

Emotional factors are blamed in about 90 per cent of headache cases, the commission reports.

In the remaining 10 per cent of cases, headaches are symptoms of other physical ailments — some serious.

Researchers have learned that an overworked head muscle can ache the same as an overworked arm muscle.

All the information gathered points to the advisability of headache sufferers consulting doctors for help. The process of eradicating the cause of a headache can be tediously long, but a checkup could uncover a serious ailment in a case where chronic head pain is a symptom, rather than an illness.

Purely Personal Observations

I see nothing wrong with basketball that couldn't be cured by my panacea of setting a ceiling of 360 inches on the over-all height of the five players in the game at one time. This would be preposterous, to be sure, but it is just as preposterous to let the game be ruined by over-emphasis on height.

Wherever you are, William Jennings Bryan, what was that you said about mankind being crucified on a cross of gold?

What Bobby Kennedy needs to do right now is have a heart-to-heart talk with Harold E. Stassen, who finally wore himself out projecting a youth image and now is a senior citizen without a following.

I cheered when told about a chronic accident causer whose pooled insurance risk premium had soared to $1,100, because at that level he would have to walk, which is what I want all vehicular manslaughterers to be doing, unless they are passengers.

Several of the happiest days of my life were spent in observance of Sugar Day at the college I went to—a day-long festival spent at "sugar camp" in the sugar-maple area of northeastern Ohio, with the entire student body on hand for fun, games and a generous helping of maple syrup, to be whipped into maple candy.

I am fascinated by the business judgment that airlines, now in boom times and confident of boomier times to come, are looking forward with dread to the advent of faster and larger jets, because they still haven't paid off the mortgages on the subsonic craft they're using now. Keeping up with the Boeings and Douglases is wearing them to a nub.

I will be astonished if Cleveland's Rapid Transit extension to Hopkins Airport makes a dent in auto traffic to and from this vital facility. I do not believe people getting ready to take planes will relish the idea of using what amounts to a street car for the first leg of the journey.

The New Beat

By Art Buchwald

There is now a lively debate going on in medical circles concerning the moral aspects of heart transplants. Since there will be a shortage of donors and a large demand for hearts in the the future, great decisions will have to be made as to who will be entitled to a new heart.

Art Buchwald

Among those working on the problem is my good friend, Dr. Heinrich Applebaum.

The doctor told me: "I think what will be needed is an International Heart Transplant Authority that will have the final decision on all heart questions."

"Where would you locate the authority?" I asked.

"Hartford, Conn.," he replied.

"But that's not spelled the same way," I said.

"What would the IHTA do?" I asked him.

"The authority would have to decide many heart-rending questions. For example, if you had a world leader who was a hard-hearted person, would you give him a soft heart in hopes he would change his thinking, or would you find a warm-hearted person to replace him?"

"I HAVE HEARD it said that there are some world leaders who have no heart. How can they get by?" I inquired.

"Everyone has a heart," Applebaum said. "Some people have hearts of stone, others have hearts of steel, and still others have heavy hearts. But we in the medical profession refuse to believe that anyone is completely without heart.

"Before heart transplants," Applebaum continued, "the average person had many misconceptions about the heart, and we in authority are going to work to educate people as to the truth of the heart's functions."

"What do you mean?" I asked.

"Well, I believe that the poets and song writers have given the heart many roles it is not entitled to. For example, how many times have you heard that one person broke another person's heart? Now, this is not medically possible. There is a song with the lyrics 'You took my heart and threw it away.' This is possible, but it's also wasteful, particularly when we are so short of hearts."

"What about the song 'My Heart Cries for You?' Can a heart cry for somebody?"

"If something is heart-rending enough it probably can. But the International Heart Transplant Authority will not get involved in any emotional heart situations. If someone loses his heart to somebody else he will not do anything to reclaim it. For example, if someone said her heart belongs to daddy, we would consider this her problem, and not ours."

"THEN YOUR jurisdiction would only be involved with medical matters?"

"Not necessarily. There are some very moral questions that aren't strictly medical ones. Let us take the economic situation at the moment. There are many people who have hearts of gold. Right now, the world faces a severe gold crisis. Do we transplant these hearts of gold into other people, or do we take the gold hearts and turn them over to the International Monetary Fund?"

"I'd hate to decide that one," I admitted. "Tell me, Dr. Applebaum, what hearts are most in demand right now?"

"We need stout-hearted men who will fight for the right they adore. Start me with ten who are stout-hearted men, and I'll soon give you 10,000 more."

"That's beautiful, doctor. Do you think the International Heart Transplant Authority has a chance?"

"Definitely, if for no other reason than all of us in the medical profession have our hearts set on it."

RAYMOND MOLEY

Travel Ban Is Questioned

Recently, Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo., came into possession of a document which casts into grave doubt the whole case for President Johnson's plan to restrict travel abroad. He entered this paper with comments of his own in the Congressional Record.

It was the preliminary report of a "working party" which was a fact-gathering subsidiary of the task force appointed by the President in 1967 to suggest ways of enticing foreign visitors to the United States.

The report, it appears, was not intended to be seen by members of Congress and was marked with the strange restriction "Administratively Confidential." But Curtis quite properly considered that no internal security was involved, except the security and credibility of the Johnson administration.

It may be remembered that 1967 was designated by the United Nations as International Tourist Year. The President heartily endorsed the idea: "It is fitting that we rededicate ourselves to the importance of promoting international good will through travel. This is not a small undertaking. And it is worthy of our highest efforts and the unqualified cooperation of all nations."

THAT WAS in 1967, well before the President changed his mind on New Year's Day 1968. Then he announced plans to dedicate this year to staying at home.

A bit of chronology is in order:

In January 1967, Mr. Johnson said he was going to appoint a task force to entice foreigners to travel in the United States.

He didn't get around to the appointment of the members of this task force until Nov. 16. The group was headed by former ambassador Robert M. McKinney of New Mexico.

The McKinney group did not meet for organizing purposes until Jan. 11, 1968—after the President had announced the plan to restrict travel abroad.

It reported on Feb. 19, two weeks after Treasury Secretary Henry Fower had unfolded travel restrictions to Congress.

Meanwhile, the working party finished its report in January. This group was headed by William D. Patterson of the Saturday Review. The import of its report was to throw ink upon all figures presented by the administration.

The report says: "Statistics in the travel field, especially from the U.S. government, leave a great deal to be desired."

Department of Commerce statistics, it said, are "inadequate, neither well-balanced nor large enough, not taken frequently enough, suffering from an undue time lag and using antiquated sampling and tabulating methods."

The working party was incredulous that "major decisions of national policy are being made on the basis of statistics on the national travel gap . . . that expert observers believe have a high degree of error."

REP. CURTIS' strength as a member of Congress has repeatedly been shown in his analyses of the fiscal data upon which the President and his subordinates have based their proposals to Congress.

In attacking the President's travel proposals, Curtis is not claiming that there is any basic right of an American to go wherever and whenever he chooses. Regulations must be imposed by any nation in protecting its paramount interests.

The question is whether the tourist is in any substantial way responsible for our balance of payments difficulties.

The weakness of the President's case is that he and Secretary of Treasury Fowler have not proved the necessity for the restrictions.

DAVID LAWRENCE

LBJ And Nixon

Robert F. Kennedy's announcement that he will soon "reassess" his previous position of support for the renomination of President Johnson at the Democratic National Convention in August has stirred up considerable friction inside the party.

This doesn't necessarily mean that if the New York senator is unsuccessful in getting the nomination for himself, he will form a third party. Rather, it is strategy designed to find a way to boost his own chances for the presidential nomination four years hence. He may either enter some of the primaries himself this year or openly support Sen. McCarthy in other primaries, then "reassess" the results.

No political group in this century has been able to prevent renomination of a president by his own party. The strongest effort to do so was at the Republican convention in 1912.

WHEN IT FAILED, a third party was formed with former President Theodore Roosevelt as the candidate. But, while the total vote of the two Republican factions was larger than that received by the Democratic candidate, Woodrow Wilson, his electoral vote was a huge landslide. He got a plurality rather than a majority in many states.

It may be doubted that Sen. Kennedy will lead a third-party movement. His objective may not be clear as yet to the average person unfamiliar with the devious ways of politics.

The senator is anxious, of course, to stay in the limelight and strengthen his position inside the Democratic party so that if Mr. Johnson is re-elected, the Kennedy faction of the party may be effectively organized to dictate who shall be nominated in 1972.

If the New York senator, moreover, became an active candidate for the 1968 presidential nomination, he would make himself available as a possible choice for the vice presidency in the event that President Johnson is compelled by reasons of political expediency to pick the New Yorker in order to assure himself the support of the Kennedy bloc.

Whichever way it is viewed, the Kennedy tactics are in accord with political precedent. Indeed, if he is unsuccessful in boosting Sen. McCarthy's candidacy, or his own, or in actually bringing about a close race at the August convention, he could at any time proclaim his support for President Johnson as the party's nominee.

Thus, Sen. Kennedy has everything to gain and very little to lose by participating in the primaries. In fact, many people have assumed his friends and supporters have been behind Sen. McCarthy's bid for the nomination, because the Wisconsin senator is relatively unknown in national politics.

A PRECONVENTION battle between Kennedy and Johnson supporters is bound to leave scars. Hence, Republicans privately are jubilant. They view the Kennedy insurrection as likely to benefit them in the long run.

President Johnson, on the other hand, holds many trump cards. Between now and the November election, he will have the opportunity dramatically to call for national unity in time of war. Also, he may be able to develop a formula for peace and begin international conferences with the leading nations of the world in an effort to solve the Vietnam problem.

If there is a delicate negotiation in progress next autumn and a likelihood that some favorable result may ensue, the President will benefit. This is why a political maneuver like that which Sen. Kennedy has initiated can hardly be appraised with certainty in mid-March, when the convention itself is not to be held until late August.

It will be important for Sen. Kennedy to go into Democratic primaries in various states in order to demonstrate his political power.

Such a development will not be relished by President Johnson's political managers. But, as matters stand at present, Johnson supporters can command an overwhelming majority of delegates in the convention. The Kennedy movement, however, can get widespread publicity for a young man who hopes to be a presidential candidate four years hence.

Republicans have their own battle. The extent of Gov. Rockefeller's delegate strength inside the party cannot be measured as yet.

But veteran politicians in both parties believe former Vice President Nixon will be the Republican nominee and President Johnson again will head the Democratic ticket.

But there is an edginess among some other party members, particularly where the Kennedy attractiveness could prove a power.

One district Democrat, quizzed early Saturday morning by newsmen about the bid by Bobby, termed him a "Johnny-come-lately" who didn't have much of a chance.

The party man telephoned back later to indicate his stand had become more neutral. There is a lot of support switching scheduled for Democrats and Republicans in the coming months, especially when—and if—the platforms and proposals of the candidates and parties become a bit more concrete and better understood.

Voters, meanwhile, face a grave task of learning all they can about the U. S. and the world in 1968 so an intelligent decision can be rendered in November.

Check That Pain

Low-grade television commercials and numerous jokes have produced an aura of humor around a problem that directly affects 1 of every 12 Americans and indirectly affects many others — the headache.

Researchers of the World Commission for the Study of Headache report there is more to a headache than a simple pain in the head.

Studies so far have shown curing headaches, in some cases, involves an adjustment in the personality of the sufferer

Emotional factors are blamed in about 90 per cent of headache cases, the commission reports.

In the remaining 10 per cent of cases, headaches are symptoms of other physical ailments — some serious.

Researchers have learned that an overworked head muscle can ache the same as an overworked arm muscle.

All the information gathered points to the advisability of headache sufferers consulting doctors for help. The process of eradicating the cause of a headache can be tediously long, but a checkup could uncover a serious ailment in a case where chronic head pain is a symptom, rather than an illness.

Purely Personal Observations

I see nothing wrong with basketball that couldn't be cured by my panacea of setting a ceiling of 360 inches on the over-all height of the five players in the game at one time. This would be preposterous, to be sure, but it is just as preposterous to let the game be ruined by over-emphasis on height.

Wherever you are, William Jennings Bryan, what was that you said about mankind being crucified on a cross of gold?

What Bobby Kennedy needs to do right now is have a heart-to-heart talk with Harold E. Stassen, who finally wore himself out projecting a youth image and now is a senior citizen without a following.

I cheered when told about a chronic accident causer whose pooled insurance risk premium had soared to $1,100, because at that level he would have to walk, which is what I want all vehicular manslaughterers to be doing, unless they are passengers.

Several of the happiest days of my life were spent in observance of Sugar Day at the college I went to—a day-long festival spent at "sugar camp" in the sugar-maple area of northeastern Ohio, with the entire student body on hand for fun, games and a generous helping of maple syrup, to be whipped into maple candy.

I am fascinated by the business judgment that airlines, now in boom times and confident of boomier times to come, are looking forward with dread to the advent of faster and larger jets, because they still haven't paid off the mortgages on the subsonic craft they're using now. Keeping up with the Boeings and Douglases is wearing them to a nub.

I will be astonished if Cleveland's Rapid Transit extension to Hopkins Airport makes a dent in auto traffic to and from this vital facility. I do not believe people getting ready to take planes will relish the idea of using what amounts to a street car for the first leg of the journey.

The New Beat

By Art Buchwald

There is now a lively debate going on in medical circles concerning the moral aspects of heart transplants. Since there will be a shortage of donors and a large demand for hearts in the the future, great decisions will have to be made as to who will be entitled to a new heart.

Art Buchwald

Among those working on the problem is my good friend, Dr. Heinrich Applebaum.

The doctor told me: "I think what will be needed is an International Heart Transplant Authority that will have the final decision on all heart questions."

"Where would you locate the authority?" I asked.

"Hartford, Conn.," he replied.

"But that's not spelled the same way," I said.

"What would the IHTA do?" I asked him.

"The authority would have to decide many heart-rending questions. For example, if you had a world leader who was a hard-hearted person, would you give him a soft heart in hopes he would change his thinking, or would you find a warm-hearted person to replace him?"

"I HAVE HEARD it said that there are some world leaders who have no heart. How can they get by?" I inquired.

"Everyone has a heart," Applebaum said. "Some people have hearts of stone, others have hearts of steel, and still others have heavy hearts. But we in the medical profession refuse to believe that anyone is completely without heart.

"Before heart transplants," Applebaum continued, "the average person had many misconceptions about the heart, and we in authority are going to work to educate people as to the truth of the heart's functions."

"What do you mean?" I asked.

"Well, I believe that the poets and song writers have given the heart many roles it is not entitled to. For example, how many times have you heard that one person broke another person's heart? Now, this is not medically possible. There is a song with the lyrics 'You took my heart and threw it away.' This is possible, but it's also wasteful, particularly when we are so short of hearts."

"What about the song 'My Heart Cries for You?' Can a heart cry for somebody?"

"If something is heart-rending enough it probably can. But the International Heart Transplant Authority will not get involved in any emotional heart situations. If someone loses his heart to somebody else he will not do anything to reclaim it. For example, if someone said her heart belongs to daddy, we would consider this her problem, and not ours."

"THEN YOUR jurisdiction would only be involved with medical matters?"

"Not necessarily. There are some very moral questions that aren't strictly medical ones. Let us take the economic situation at the moment. There are many people who have hearts of gold. Right now, the world faces a severe gold crisis. Do we transplant these hearts of gold into other people, or do we take the gold hearts and turn them over to the International Monetary Fund?"

"I'd hate to decide that one," I admitted. "Tell me, Dr. Applebaum, what hearts are most in demand right now?"

"We need stout-hearted men who will fight for the right they adore. Start me with ten who are stout-hearted men, and I'll soon give you 10,000 more."

"That's beautiful, doctor. Do you think the International Heart Transplant Authority has a chance?"

"Definitely, if for no other reason than all of us in the medical profession have our hearts set on it."

RAYMOND MOLEY

Travel Ban Is Questioned

Recently, Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo., came into possession of a document which casts into grave doubt the whole case for President Johnson's plan to restrict travel abroad. He entered this paper with comments of his own in the Congressional Record.

It was the preliminary report of a "working party" which was a fact-gathering subsidiary of the task force appointed by the President in 1967 to suggest ways of enticing foreign visitors to the United States.

The report, it appears, was not intended to be seen by members of Congress and was marked with the strange restriction "Administratively Confidential." But Curtis quite properly considered that no internal security was involved, except the security and credibility of the Johnson administration.

It may be remembered that 1967 was designated by the United Nations as International Tourist Year. The President heartily endorsed the idea: "It is fitting that we rededicate ourselves to the importance of promoting international good will through travel. This is not a small undertaking. And it is worthy of our highest efforts and the unqualified cooperation of all nations."

THAT WAS in 1967, well before the President changed his mind on New Year's Day 1968. Then he announced plans to dedicate this year to staying at home.

A bit of chronology is in order:

In January 1967, Mr. Johnson said he was going to appoint a task force to entice foreigners to travel in the United States.

He didn't get around to the appointment of the members of this task force until Nov. 16. The group was headed by former ambassador Robert M. McKinney of New Mexico.

The McKinney group did not meet for organizing purposes until Jan. 11, 1968—after the President had announced the plan to restrict travel abroad.

It reported on Feb. 19, two weeks after Treasury Secretary Henry Fower had unfolded travel restrictions to Congress.

Meanwhile, the working party finished its report in January. This group was headed by William D. Patterson of the Saturday Review. The import of its report was to throw ink upon all figures presented by the administration.

The report says: "Statistics in the travel field, especially from the U.S. government, leave a great deal to be desired."

Department of Commerce statistics, it said, are "inadequate, neither well-balanced nor large enough, not taken frequently enough, suffering from an undue time lag and using antiquated sampling and tabulating methods."

The working party was incredulous that "major decisions of national policy are being made on the basis of statistics on the national travel gap . . . that expert observers believe have a high degree of error."

REP. CURTIS' strength as a member of Congress has repeatedly been shown in his analyses of the fiscal data upon which the President and his subordinates have based their proposals to Congress.

In attacking the President's travel proposals, Curtis is not claiming that there is any basic right of an American to go wherever and whenever he chooses. Regulations must be imposed by any nation in protecting its paramount interests.

The question is whether the tourist is in any substantial way responsible for our balance of payments difficulties.

The weakness of the President's case is that he and Secretary of Treasury Fowler have not proved the necessity for the restrictions.

DAVID LAWRENCE

LBJ And Nixon

Robert F. Kennedy's announcement that he will soon "reassess" his previous position of support for the renomination of President Johnson at the Democratic National Convention in August has stirred up considerable friction inside the party.

This doesn't necessarily mean that if the New York senator is unsuccessful in getting the nomination for himself, he will form a third party. Rather, it is strategy designed to find a way to boost his own chances for the presidential nomination four years hence. He may either enter some of the primaries himself this year or openly support Sen. McCarthy in other primaries, then "reassess" the results.

No political group in this century has been able to prevent renomination of a president by his own party. The strongest effort to do so was at the Republican convention in 1912.

WHEN IT FAILED, a third party was formed with former President Theodore Roosevelt as the candidate. But, while the total vote of the two Republican factions was larger than that received by the Democratic candidate, Woodrow Wilson, his electoral vote was a huge landslide. He got a plurality rather than a majority in many states.

It may be doubted that Sen. Kennedy will lead a third-party movement. His objective may not be clear as yet to the average person unfamiliar with the devious ways of politics.

The senator is anxious, of course, to stay in the limelight and strengthen his position inside the Democratic party so that if Mr. Johnson is re-elected, the Kennedy faction of the party may be effectively organized to dictate who shall be nominated in 1972.

If the New York senator, moreover, became an active candidate for the 1968 presidential nomination, he would make himself available as a possible choice for the vice presidency in the event that President Johnson is compelled by reasons of political expediency to pick the New Yorker in order to assure himself the support of the Kennedy bloc.

Whichever way it is viewed, the Kennedy tactics are in accord with political precedent. Indeed, if he is unsuccessful in boosting Sen. McCarthy's candidacy, or his own, or in actually bringing about a close race at the August convention, he could at any time proclaim his support for President Johnson as the party's nominee.

Thus, Sen. Kennedy has everything to gain and very little to lose by participating in the primaries. In fact, many people have assumed his friends and supporters have been behind Sen. McCarthy's bid for the nomination, because the Wisconsin senator is relatively unknown in national politics.

A PRECONVENTION battle between Kennedy and Johnson supporters is bound to leave scars. Hence, Republicans privately are jubilant. They view the Kennedy insurrection as likely to benefit them in the long run.

President Johnson, on the other hand, holds many trump cards. Between now and the November election, he will have the opportunity dramatically to call for national unity in time of war. Also, he may be able to develop a formula for peace and begin international conferences with the leading nations of the world in an effort to solve the Vietnam problem.

If there is a delicate negotiation in progress next autumn and a likelihood that some favorable result may ensue, the President will benefit. This is why a political maneuver like that which Sen. Kennedy has initiated can hardly be appraised with certainty in mid-March, when the convention itself is not to be held until late August.

It will be important for Sen. Kennedy to go into Democratic primaries in various states in order to demonstrate his political power.

Such a development will not be relished by President Johnson's political managers. But, as matters stand at present, Johnson supporters can command an overwhelming majority of delegates in the convention. The Kennedy movement, however, can get widespread publicity for a young man who hopes to be a presidential candidate four years hence.

Republicans have their own battle. The extent of Gov. Rockefeller's delegate strength inside the party cannot be measured as yet.

But veteran politicians in both parties believe former Vice President Nixon will be the Republican nominee and President Johnson again will head the Democratic ticket.

Security Camera Included In Branch Bank's Project

Construction is scheduled to start soon on enlargement of the St. Clair office of the First National Bank, Robert E. Boyce, president, announced today.

Architect's plans have been accepted for the project which will include a walk-in vault designed to house 500 safe deposit boxes in addition to the normal cash requirements of the branch and the tellers.

Lobby space will be more than doubled, permitting sufficient teller counters to include five inside teller stations. The interior will be designed to create a colonial decor in keeping with the exterior of the building. An enlarged employee - customer lounge will be added in addition to having another interviewing office to handle the increase in loan demand, Boyce stated.

A third drive-up window will be installed to eliminate traffic congestion and at the same time permit faster handling of drive-up customer transactions.

As an additional security measure, a camera will be installed similar to those used effectively in many of the branches of the larger city banks.

The expansion has been made necessary as a result of increased use of the branch by customers and in line with the bank's plans to offer more services, Boyce stated.

The work will be done by the Potters Construction Co.

So Says Colorado Commissioner

There's Gold In Them Thar Hills!

By GORDON G. GAUSS
Associated Press Writer

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — While world markets are in a frenzy with the rush on gold, perhaps $1 billion worth of the precious metal lies untapped under the mountains of Colorado, according to a veteran deputy state mines commissioner.

Colorado has produced more than $900 million in gold since the state was settled scarcely 100 years ago, commissioner G. A. Franz said Monday. He added that much of the calculation is based on the price of $20 an ounce.

And, he said, there probably is as much—or more—gold remaining in the ground as already has been mined. The price to date simply has not justified trying to mine.

Franz said an increase in the price of gold from $35 an ounce is "something we out this way think should have occurred a long time ago.

THIS BUYING rush, he said, could lead to a new mining boom in the fabled Cripple Creek district of Colorado, where $400 million worth of gold was mined before all shafts were closed down.

Recent reports on government prospecting — using computers and bulldozers instead of pans and burros — have confirmed that more gold lies under the mountainous Cripple Creek area west of Colorado Springs.

But, without a price high enough to make it worth while, Franz noted that not a single mine is operating now in the Cripple Creek-Victor field.

He said it may take up to two years to prepare for any jump in production, to permit operators to get larger mines into operating condition and possibly to work out financing for modern machinery in some cases.

The handful of mines operating elsewhere in Colorado that depend upon gold and silver for part of their revenues are "barely able to make a living now," Franz said.

MOST OF these mines contain complex ores which include lead and zinc along with gold and silver.

Franze said any gold price increase will tend to make companies operating these diggings "look a little harder for a gold area in their mines."

This, he said, could result in some immediate production increase, although such a boost probably would not approach boom proportions.

Gold has been found in many parts of Colorado, including the Leadville area two miles above sea level, and in the scenic mountains of southwest Colorado around the once - booming town of Creede.

But it was in 1858, in what is now the tourist town of Central City, where gold first was found in the Front range of the Colorado Rockies.

The discovery, not too far west of Denver, touched off a gold rush in 1859, when the slogan of immigrants coming West in covered wagons became, "Pikes Peak or Bust."

Patrolman Dies Of Gun Wounds Received Jan. 16

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A second policeman has died of wounds inflicted Jan. 16 when the two officers stopped a car on a north Nashville street.

Patrolman Charles Wayne Thomasson, 29, died in General Hospital Sunday, 61 days after he was wounded seven times in the abdomen and lower back.

Patrolman Thomas E. Johnson, 39, died on the cold pavement minutes after he was shot.

The two officers, in separate patrol cars, had stopped a car after a merchant in the area reported two men trying to pass stolen money orders.

Five Cincinnati, Ohio men subsequently were charged with murder in connection with Johnson's death. Police said Sunday additional charges would be placed in connection with Thomasson's death.

Steve Parker, 23, and Ralph Canady, 25, surrendered to police in Cincinnati four days after the shootings and were returned here. Both are free under $5,000 bond.

Police are still looking for William Garvin Allen, 24, Charles Lee Herron, 30, and John W. Alexander, 25. Allen and Herron were placed on the FBI's ten "most wanted" list last month.

Dr. William Alford, Thomasson's physician, said the officer died from infections resulting from the gunshot wounds.

The sun porch of a two-story frame St. George St. dwelling was damaged by fire Saturday afternoon and firemen were called to an Oak St. home that night when a resident smelled smoke.

Six men and three trucks went to the home of Luther Woodward of 852 St. George St. about 4:43 when curtains on the sun porch caught fire.

A garden hose was used by firemen to extinguish the flames. The department was on the scene 24 minutes. Damage was reported to the contents of the porch, including toys, curtains and the walls.

Firemen reported there was no one on the porch when the flames ignited.

Shortly before 9 Saturday night, the department answered a call to 734 Oak St., the home of Mrs. Paul Your. She called the department when she smelled smoke coming from the basement.

Firemen discovered fire shooting from the doors of an old coal furnace, quelled the flames and advised her not to use the furnace again until repairs were made.

Three men and one truck were on the scene 43 minutes. The alarm was sounded at 8:56. The house is a two - story frame.

Man's 2-Hour Rampage Leaves 7 Persons Dead

IRONWOOD, Mich. (AP) — A seventh victim of a rifleman's two-hour shooting spree died Sunday and two persons remained in "very serious" condition.

Six persons were killed in the rampage Saturday through this western upper peninsula community.

Charged in the slayings is Eric Pearson, 56, a muscular outdoorsman described as "a skillful hunter and a loner" who worked as a janitor in a nearby ski lodge.

Pearson was scheduled to be arraigned today.

Mrs. Helen Puisto, 47, of Ironwood, died Sunday night in Grand View Hospital.

The victims all were shot with a high-powered hunting rifle.

Gogebic County Sheriff Chester J. Prebish said Pearson had been drinking heavily and was incoherent when captured by patrons of a tavern, where one man was slain and a woman wounded.

The tavern was the last stop on the rampage. Authorities said the slayer first visited a modern, one-story home about a mile away, where four persons, including a mother and her daughter were killed in the living room.

A 12-year-old girl, trying to hide in her bedroom closet, was wounded when a bullet was fired through the door. A trail of blood was left throughout the home.

The killer then went to another home, killing one man and wounding his wife. The next stop was the tavern.

"He just walked in the door and started shooting. He didn't say a word," said one customer.

Mrs. Puisto's husband, Alex, and another patron, John Niemi, of Ironwood, lunged for the man. Puisto went for the rifle, the customer said, while Niemi threw some punches and clubbed the man with a whisky bottle.

Killed with her were her daughter, Mrs. Vienna Gustafson, owner of the home, Mrs. Katherine Rigoni, 59, of Ironwood, and Daniel E. Weiss, 67, of Lansing.

Mrs. Gustafson's 12-year-old daughter, Robin, was shot in the stomach through the door of the closet where she had tried to hide.

Bennetts said the killer next went to the Raymond Hautala home, near the tavern, where he fatally shot Hautala, 49, in the chest and wounded his wife, Lempi, 61.

The deputy said Pearson, who lived alone in a cabin a few miles from Lake Superior, "used to drink, but he appeared to have cut it out in past years. He seemed to be an all right fellow."

Marine Describes Viet War At Midland Fete

Marine Capt. John J. Mullen Jr., assistant officer in charge of recruiting in the Pittsburgh area, spoke at a dinner honoring the 49th anniversary of the American Legion and the 40th anniversary of Midland Post 481 at the post home Saturday night.

Capt. Mullen spent a year in Vietnam and received three citations, including the Bronze Star.

In outlining the years U.S. troops have been in Vietnam, he said when they first went there the Viet Cong thought our troops could never defeat them because they weren't well trained. But by 1966 more of South Vietnam's population area became safe, and in 1967 the nation held its first free election.

"Now in 1968, the Viet Cong is suffering defeat at every turn. They are losing men at a ratio of 4 to 1, have practically no bases left in South Vietnam and recognize they can't win a military victory and are now trying for a psychological one."

HE SAID pessimists in the United States seem to have solutions for the end of the conflict, but keep them a secret, and the troops need our support now more than ever.

"The men are optimistic, and 17,000 Marines alone have extended their tour of duty."

George Huha Jr. presented a special award to George Mulach, who was named "Legionnaire of the year". Mulach has been active in the Christmas toy program and 4th of July program, and served as delegate to the Beaver County Committee and post finance officer. He served as secretary - treasurer for 17 years and was commander from 1954-55. He has been a member of Post 481 for 22 years.

A SPECIAL "gold card" membership was presented to R. Merrill Neville, former Midland resident, for 50 years continuous service in the Legion. He was also the first life member. Neville said he is now looking forward to the 50th anniversary dinner.

David Silverman, Joseph M. Daniels, Charles Childs and Ernie Watson were presented 40-year membership cards.

Jackets were given by William Coble to Joe Mulach, Steve Crano, Robert Dick, Woodrow Pflugh, Lester Barr, Andy Gabor, William Riddle, Mark Pike, Truman Rodfong, Pat Cody and Emilio Palanza. Huha presented a jacket to Coble. They are awarded under the merit system for service.

Permit Also Suspended

East End Man, 46, Jailed In Drunk Driving Case

A 46-year-old East End man was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to five days in jail when he pleaded guilty today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

Virgil C. Willard of Price St. Ext. also was given a 90 - day suspension of his operator's permit. The court dismissed a second affidavit in which Willard was accused of "challenging a fight" with Lt. Paul Blevins and Patrolman James Woods. "You're in enough trouble already," the court told Willard.

THE TWO officers reported they cited Willard Friday at 11:15 p.m. on Dresden Ave. after his auto nearly struck their cruiser. When taken to headquarters, he challenged the two to a fight, they reported.

Two motorists were penalized on charges of failing to dim their bright headlights for oncoming traffic.

Miss Diana L. Sciaretta of Rochester was ordered to pay the costs on such a charge and also was fined $10 and costs on a charge of speeding 45 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone on Pennsylvania Ave. She was cited Sunday at 2:36 a.m. on Pennsylvania Ave. by Patrolman H. Clyde Dillon.

James Lee Spurlock of 119 Grant St., Newell, was ordered to pay the costs on failure to dim headlights and paid an additional fine of $10 and costs on a charge of operating an unsafe car. He was cited by Dillon Sunday at 1:28 a.m. on Harvey Ave.

Thomas Osborn, 34, of 301 Jefferson St. is due for a hearing Wednesday on a charge of failure to dim headlights. He was cited by Dillon on Harvey Ave. Sunday at 4:56 a.m.

David L. Wilson of New Cumberland RD 2 was fined $10 and costs on a charge of "peeling" his tires by driving at a high rate of speed on E. 3rd St. He was cited by Blevins Friday at 8:30 p.m. The officer said Wilson drove out of a restaurant "spinning his wheels and swerving."

ALFRED Watts of 760 Woodlawn Ave. was fined $10 and costs on a charge of operating a refuse truck without covering the load with a tarpaulin. He was cited Friday at 11 a. m. in Summit Ln. by Patrolman Charles A. Winters.

Linda Smith of 829 Lincoln Ave., cited after an East End traffic mishap Friday, was given a 10-day suspended jail term on a charge of driving without a license and a suspended $15 fine on a charge of driving left of center. Her car was involved in a mishap at Elizabeth St. and Harvey Ave.

Three drivers forfeited $27.50 bonds on speeding charges filed by the Ohio Highway Patrol. They were: Joseph DiClaudio, 46, of St. Clairsville, Joseph Claypool, 25, of Karns City, Pa., and Donald F. Laskey, 21, of Youngstown. Joseph S. Cunio, 45, of Akron forfeited $37.50 on a speeding charge, also filed by the patrol.

Gene R. Karcher, 24, of LaCroft was fined $25 and costs and given a 30-day suspension of his operator's permit on a reckless driving charge. He was cited by the patrol after a mishap Saturday at 11:35 a. m. on the Y. & O. Rd. Noting the patrol reported Karcher "had been drinking," the judge commented the defendant was lucky he was not facing a more serious charge. He said Karcher may use his permit during the suspension period to drive to school and to work.

Action By Governments Will Help Stem Gold Flow

They seemed confident the rule would be followed by all free world governments, not just the seven signers.

Speculators and legitimate users alike thus will have to buy from those who mine the metal —in South Africa, the Soviet Union or Canada—or those who may be ready to sell from private hoards.

The question that hung heavily over the two-day conference in Washington's marble Federal Reserve Board building—and still remains unanswered—is whether the $35 official price can stand up if the free price is much higher.

Credit To Be Tightened

Not even Washington expects the plan to endure unless solid measures are taken to repair confidence in the dollar abroad. The Federal Reserve moved Thursday to tighten credit.

President Johnson gave further assurances Saturday. He will accept a multi-billion dollar spending cut in his fiscal 1969 budget, he said, to insure the enactment by Congress of his 10 per cent income tax surcharge proposal. There are strong indications that resistance in Congress is melting.

Senate Banking Committee leaders were optimistic. Chairman John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., forecast a halt to the gold rush. Sen. John G. Tower of Texas, second-ranking Republican, said the move was "constructive" but added that taxes must be raised and spending cut.

"It is apparent we are going to have to put our fiscal house in order to arrest the deterioration of confidence in the dollar," Tower said.

To make sure that no government tries to make a sneak profit by selling official $35-an-ounce gold to private buyers at the free market price, the seven signatory governments agreed they will not sell to any government "to replace gold sold in private markets."

Seven Countries Sign

In other words, if any government chooses to violate the ban on private sales, it will lose for good that much gold from its reserves.

The seven signatory governments—Britain, Belgium, Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Switzerland and the United States—hold about $26 billion in their official gold reserves. The total held by all governments is close to $40 billion. Privately held stocks are comparatively small.

The statement read to reporters by William McChesney Martin, Federal Reserve Board Chairman, at the close of the weekend meeting said:

"As the existing stock of monetary gold is sufficient in view of the prospective establishment of the facility for Special Drawing Rights, they (the seven governments) no longer feel it is necessary to buy gold from the market."

New Form Of Money

Special Drawing Right, or SDRs, are a new form of money to be created for the sole purpose of international settlements. They will be merely bookkeeping entries in the books of the International Monetary Fund.

The SDR system was approved last September by the IMF, but still requires ratification by its member nations. It would not be a substitute for gold but a supplement to it which can expand the world's monetary resources as needed to support the growth of trade.

"I just turned the corner and hit the top," Rev. Palmer related, "I didn't see that seven feet".

"I was watching traffic and the sun was in my eyes," he added. He said traffic in the other direction was rather heavy at the time of the collision.

The small camper - type trailer was ripped apart by the impact and the contents spilled onto the roadway. Traffic was tied up for nearly an hour while wrecking crews and policemen worked to clean up the wreckage and debris. Patrolman Orin C. Smith assisted Adkins with the maintenance of traffic.

They seemed confident the rule would be followed by all free world governments, not just the seven signers.

Speculators and legitimate users alike thus will have to buy from those who mine the metal —in South Africa, the Soviet Union or Canada—or those who may be ready to sell from private hoards.

The question that hung heavily over the two-day conference in Washington's marble Federal Reserve Board building—and still remains unanswered—is whether the $35 official price can stand up if the free price is much higher.

Credit To Be Tightened

Not even Washington expects the plan to endure unless solid measures are taken to repair confidence in the dollar abroad. The Federal Reserve moved Thursday to tighten credit.

President Johnson gave further assurances Saturday. He will accept a multi-billion dollar spending cut in his fiscal 1969 budget, he said, to insure the enactment by Congress of his 10 per cent income tax surcharge proposal. There are strong indications that resistance in Congress is melting.

Senate Banking Committee leaders were optimistic. Chairman John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., forecast a halt to the gold rush. Sen. John G. Tower of Texas, second-ranking Republican, said the move was "constructive" but added that taxes must be raised and spending cut.

"It is apparent we are going to have to put our fiscal house in order to arrest the deterioration of confidence in the dollar," Tower said.

To make sure that no government tries to make a sneak profit by selling official $35-an-ounce gold to private buyers at the free market price, the seven signatory governments agreed they will not sell to any government "to replace gold sold in private markets."

Seven Countries Sign

In other words, if any government chooses to violate the ban on private sales, it will lose for good that much gold from its reserves.

The seven signatory governments—Britain, Belgium, Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Switzerland and the United States—hold about $26 billion in their official gold reserves. The total held by all governments is close to $40 billion. Privately held stocks are comparatively small.

The statement read to reporters by William McChesney Martin, Federal Reserve Board Chairman, at the close of the weekend meeting said:

"As the existing stock of monetary gold is sufficient in view of the prospective establishment of the facility for Special Drawing Rights, they (the seven governments) no longer feel it is necessary to buy gold from the market."

New Form Of Money

Special Drawing Right, or SDRs, are a new form of money to be created for the sole purpose of international settlements. They will be merely bookkeeping entries in the books of the International Monetary Fund.

The SDR system was approved last September by the IMF, but still requires ratification by its member nations. It would not be a substitute for gold but a supplement to it which can expand the world's monetary resources as needed to support the growth of trade.

Warren Man Escapes Jail

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Trumbull County sheriff's deputies were hunting Raymond Kellar of Warren and two other escapees today after Kellar's second jailbreak since last summer.

Kellar overcame a jailer Sunday and fled with two other men, Sheriff Robert W. Barnett reported.

The other escapees were identified as Fred Holbrook of Niles, held on a breaking and entry charge, and Ronald Bube of Niles, held on a robbery charge.

Barnett said Kellar originally was arrested early last summer on a breaking and entering charge. He broke out last August but was recaptured and was indicted by the grand jury in January on jailbreak charges.

Fence Ripped As Car Veers Off 'Hill Rd.'

William B. Croxall, 22, of 1623 Allison St. escaped injury in the spectacular crash that damaged both sides, the front and the undercarriage of his 1962 two-door sedan, officers said. The collision uprooted six posts supporting the guard rail and tore the cable off the posts, officers said.

Croxall told police he was driving west at 40 to 50 miles an hour about 10:50 when he saw headlights approching from the rear. Then he felt a "thump" in the rear of his car, which went out of control, crossed the center line and hit the guardrails, he said. The other auto did not stop.

A guardrail cable prevented the auto from plunging over the hillside. A witness halted at the scene and took Croxall to police headquarters to report the crash.

A mishap on W. 5th St. at West Alley at 2:35 p.m. Saturday damaged a 1965 sedan driven by D. L. Boston, 48, of Parkersburg, W. Va., and a 1962 two-door operated by Shirley A. Allison, 20, of Sherwood Ave.

Boston was driving west on W. 5th and the woman was pulling from the alley onto the thoroughfare. The mishap damaged the left front of the Allison car and the right rear of the Boston auto.

John Fox of 1546 Globe St. told police a hit - skip auto struck a fence at the rear of his property Sunday night between 7:40 and 8:40. The crash ripped out two posts and damaged approximately 25 feet of fence. The property is in Hart Alley 250 feet east of Wedgewood St., officers said.

Musmanno Says Lenient Courts Help Criminals

PITTSBURGH (AP) Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court says lenient jurists are releasing murderers to prey on innocent Americans.

"Much is being said about the breakdown in law enforcement, and much is being said about courts releasing criminals," Musmanno said. "That is what is taking place here."

The remarks were contained in Musmanno's dissent in an opinion granting Ellis Banks of Philadelphia a new murder trial because police obtained a statement from him improperly.

"If Banks is not convicted at the new trial," Musmanno said, "this will be another deplorable case where the courts have, in the face of the clearest evidence of guilt, released a murderer into the streets to prey on innocent Americans."

Q. DO MINUTE FLAWS ALWAYS AFFECT A DIAMOND'S BEAUTY?

A. If there are obvious flaws, both beauty and value are affected. However, if there are only a few tiny flaws, and it takes 10-power magnification to see them, it lowers the price—but it does not affect the beauty or durability of the diamond. Obviously, with such delicate factors of judgement, you need the knowledgeable conscientious help of a fine jeweler. As members of the American Gem Society, we are able to offer this training and assurance to you. Stop in soon to see our fine diamond collection and learn more about the proper grading of gems.

William B. Croxall, 22, of 1623 Allison St. escaped injury in the spectacular crash that damaged both sides, the front and the undercarriage of his 1962 two-door sedan, officers said. The collision uprooted six posts supporting the guard rail and tore the cable off the posts, officers said.

Croxall told police he was driving west at 40 to 50 miles an hour about 10:50 when he saw headlights approching from the rear. Then he felt a "thump" in the rear of his car, which went out of control, crossed the center line and hit the guardrails, he said. The other auto did not stop.

A guardrail cable prevented the auto from plunging over the hillside. A witness halted at the scene and took Croxall to police headquarters to report the crash.

A mishap on W. 5th St. at West Alley at 2:35 p.m. Saturday damaged a 1965 sedan driven by D. L. Boston, 48, of Parkersburg, W. Va., and a 1962 two-door operated by Shirley A. Allison, 20, of Sherwood Ave.

Boston was driving west on W. 5th and the woman was pulling from the alley onto the thoroughfare. The mishap damaged the left front of the Allison car and the right rear of the Boston auto.

John Fox of 1546 Globe St. told police a hit - skip auto struck a fence at the rear of his property Sunday night between 7:40 and 8:40. The crash ripped out two posts and damaged approximately 25 feet of fence. The property is in Hart Alley 250 feet east of Wedgewood St., officers said.

Musmanno Says Lenient Courts Help Criminals

PITTSBURGH (AP) Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court says lenient jurists are releasing murderers to prey on innocent Americans.

"Much is being said about the breakdown in law enforcement, and much is being said about courts releasing criminals," Musmanno said. "That is what is taking place here."

The remarks were contained in Musmanno's dissent in an opinion granting Ellis Banks of Philadelphia a new murder trial because police obtained a statement from him improperly.

"If Banks is not convicted at the new trial," Musmanno said, "this will be another deplorable case where the courts have, in the face of the clearest evidence of guilt, released a murderer into the streets to prey on innocent Americans."

Q. DO MINUTE FLAWS ALWAYS AFFECT A DIAMOND'S BEAUTY?

A. If there are obvious flaws, both beauty and value are affected. However, if there are only a few tiny flaws, and it takes 10-power magnification to see them, it lowers the price—but it does not affect the beauty or durability of the diamond. Obviously, with such delicate factors of judgement, you need the knowledgeable conscientious help of a fine jeweler. Here's How It Will Work

Latest Gold System Outlined

By GEORGE TAYLOR
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven of the leading Western industrialized nations approved Sunday in Washington a two-price system for gold.

What is the system? How will it work? Will it stop the U.S. loss of gold?

Here are some of the questions and answers about the system:

Q—What is the two-price system for gold?

A—It means a price of $35 an ounce would be maintained in transactions between central banks of different countries, such as the Federal Reserve Bank in the United States and the Bank of England. Prices in a private market would be determined by demand and supply, estimated at around $40 to $45 an ounce.

New System Explained

Q—Why was a two-price system set up?

A—It was designed to stop the wild speculative buying of gold bullion at $35 an ounce which swamped the London gold market. The buying severely drained the gold reserves of the seven nations which make up the London gold pool. Speculators were buying the gold for $35 on the assumption it would increase in price. Now gold on the free market will sell at whatever price people are willing to pay—without affecting the price of gold used for settling transactions among nations.

Q—What was the old price system?

A—The United States and seven other Western nations—including France which withdrew—formed the London gold pool to stabilize the price of gold at $35 an ounce. This is the price at which the United States, since 1934, has said it will pay in gold for other countries' dollars.

Q—When was the gold pool formed?

A—The pool came into being in 1961 to stabilize the price of gold after the price in the London market soared to more than $40 an ounce.

Paper Money Not Wanted

A—In times of uncertainty about paper currencies hoarders and speculators would cash in their paper money for gold. This created a drain on the reserves of the London gold pool nations, especially the United States which supplied 59 per cent of the gold.

Q—Does the two-price system solve the U.S. gold problem?

A—Economists say it stops the loss of gold immediately but the underlying problem—balance of payments deficit—remains. Steps such as a tax increase and spending cuts must be taken to reduce the deficit, according to economists.

Q—What are the seven nations which agreed to this two-price system?

A—In addition to the United States, they are Belgium, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Switzerland, and Britain.

Q—How much gold do the seven nations have?

Gold Supply Halted

Q—Will these seven nations now supply gold to any market?

A—In their Sunday communique, the central banks said they "decided no longer to supply gold to the London gold market or any other gold market." They said they felt the existing stock of monetary gold—gold held in governmental reserves—is "sufficient."

Q—What would prevent the central banks from acquiring gold at $35 an ounce and reselling it for a profit at a higher price in the private market?

A—The seven nations agreed that they would not sell gold to other countries to replace gold sold in the private market. The seven also agreed they would not purchase gold in the free market.

Q—How long will the higher private market prices last?

A—One Paris gold dealer said "as soon as all the speculators try to sell gold and take their profit, you will have too much gold around" and the price would drop.

New Gold Available

Q—Where will the gold come from for the private market?

A—Newly mined gold and gold held by individuals will be the sources. But government-held gold, the bulk of the world's supply, won't be available to individuals.

Q—What about France?

A—France, which pulled out of the gold pool last year, holds about $5 billion in gold. It was not clear immediately if France would dispose of her gold on the private market at the presumably higher price.

Q—What's the long-range prospects for the two-price system?

A—Economists say it is a stop-gap measure. One said the plan will work for a while if the free market price rises up to $50 an ounce. "If it gets higher, the central banks will sell to make a profit," he said.

Study Prepared On Housing By Porter, Others

Among various proposals for housing development in Pittsburgh is a study plan prepared by Urban Design Associates—of which James Nessly Porter of East Liverpool is a member—for the Mt. Washington area.

The plan is suggested as a possible development of a hillside "saddle" opposite Grant St. where, despite the steepness of the site and a soil structure weakened by worked-out coal mines, housing could be constructed to meet the city's growing needs.

Apartment houses would be built on the areas of good weight-bearing soil, town houses and commercial center at the top of the slope. Uphill members and horizontal girders would support layers of duplex housing units.

The plan, prepared for ACTION-Housing, a private nonprofit civic organization, was not worked out in detail; it was basically a feasibility report. It has been described in the current issue of "Progressive Architecture."

Porter in February received certification from the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards.

Ruling Due In Shooting Of Youth, 16

CLEVELAND (AP)—The prosecutor is to rule in the shooting death of a 16-year-old youth who was felled by police slugs after he broke and ran from two patrolmen early Sunday.

The youth, Daniel D. Capp, was hit by six slugs in the back, head and an arm, the coroner's office reported.

Patrolmen William J. Traine and Ronald C. Gelb said they did not shoot directly at Capp until he turned while fleeing and they saw a shiny object in his hand. The shiny object apparently was a knife found near the body.

Traine and Gelb had been sent to West 47th and Lorain on a report that a boy with a cast on his hand was threatening people with a gun. They spotted Capp on the corner with a girl. There was a cast on his right hand.

The officers said the youth fled and they fired after he ignored orders to halt.

2 Granges Join In Ceremonies

LISBON — Seventeen members of Guilford Grange took the traveling certificate to Salem Grange Friday night and also presented the program.

Willis Zimmerman, Salem master, welcomed the group.

"All Work and No Fund Would Make Guilford a Dull Grange" was the program theme, with Miss Beulah Sell, Guilford lecturer, serving as announcer.

Participating were: Piano selections, Mrs. Elizabeth Farmer; poem, Mrs. William Rance; talk, "Do's and Don'ts in Case of Fire," James Werner, a member of the Hanoverton Volunteer Fire Department; playlet, "The Guilford Ladybirds Music Club," Bernice Arter, Marjory Whinnery, Rosamond Mattevi, Olive Barber, Esperance Raley, Effie Walton and Hilda Snyder; piano solo, Mrs. Snyder, and the Guilford "Bunny Girls."

Lunch was served by the host grange to 75. Salem will take the certificate to West Point Friday, with a delegation from the Guilford Grange planning to attend.

Kennedy Wins Mock Election At School

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Robert Kennedy won the Democratic presidential nomination in a mock convention of high school students at Capital University.

Kennedy defeated Sen. Eugene McCarthy 821-596 while President Johnson ran third with 286 votes. The vice presidential nod went to Sen. Mike Mansfield.

Library's Program May Have Backfired

CHICAGO (AP) — When overdue books were accepted at the public library without fines Jan. 2, nearly 105,000 books—many of them valuable or out of print—were returned. Library officials were jubilant.

Now they fear the amnesty may have backfired. There has been a sharp decrease in the collection of fines on overdue books since.

Alaska and Hawaii are the only two states which do not border on any other state.

Ruling Due In Shooting Of Youth, 16

CLEVELAND (AP)—The prosecutor is to rule in the shooting death of a 16-year-old youth who was felled by police slugs after he broke and ran from two patrolmen early Sunday.

The youth, Daniel D. Capp, was hit by six slugs in the back, head and an arm, the coroner's office reported.

Patrolmen William J. Traine and Ronald C. Gelb said they did not shoot directly at Capp until he turned while fleeing and they saw a shiny object in his hand. The shiny object apparently was a knife found near the body.

Traine and Gelb had been sent to West 47th and Lorain on a report that a boy with a cast on his hand was threatening people with a gun. They spotted Capp on the corner with a girl. There was a cast on his right hand.

The officers said the youth fled and they fired after he ignored orders to halt.

Library's Program May Have Backfired

CHICAGO (AP) — When overdue books were accepted at the public library without fines Jan. 2, nearly 105,000 books—many of them valuable or out of print—were returned. Library officials were jubilant.

Now they fear the amnesty may have backfired. There has been a sharp decrease in the collection of fines on overdue books since.

Tests Started In Sixth Case Of Meningitis

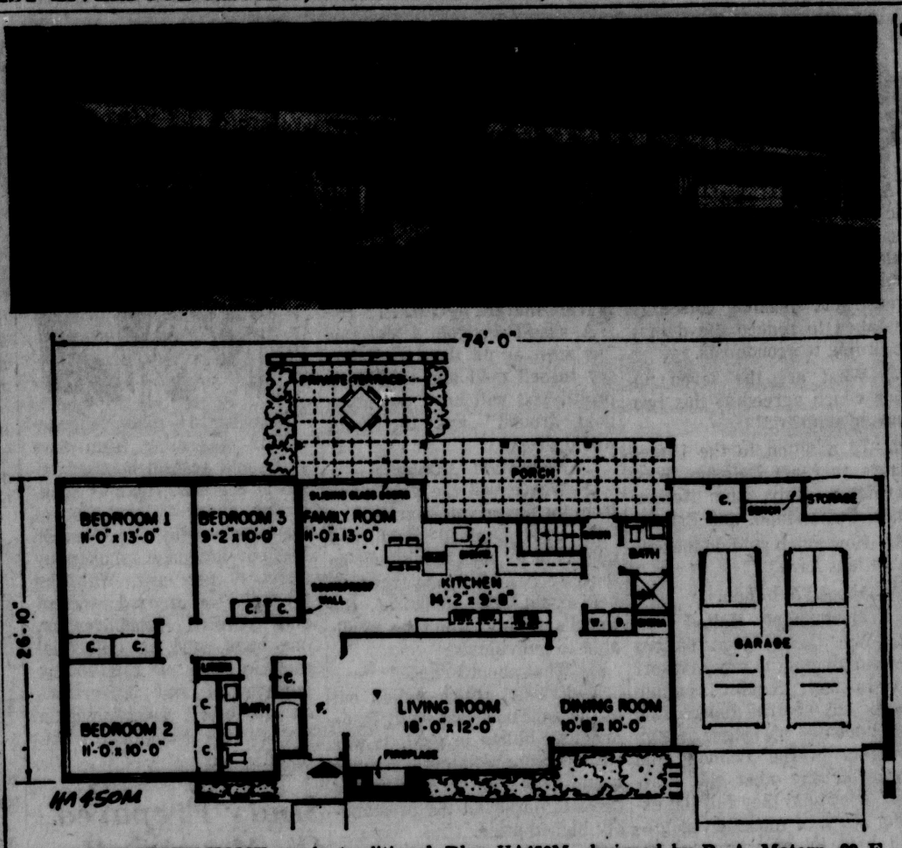
WARREN, Pa. (AP) — A man ill with meningitis was reported in good condition in Warren State Hospital today and tests were being conducted on another man to see if he had contracted the highly-contagious disease that attacks the central nervous system.

The unidentified patient is the sixth man to become ill with meningitis in less than a month. The disease killed three patients and a doctor.

Dr. Robert H. Israel, hospital administrator, said it appeared the meningitis was under control.

"But you don't know where this thing is going to pop up next." he said.

The hospital was closed Friday night after the illness was spotted, and staff members and patients took sulfonamide tablets as a precautionary measure.



A ONE-STORY HOME can be traditional. Plan HA450M, designed by R. A. Matern, 89 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola, N. Y. 11501, has a "front and center" chimney which adds a distinctive touch to the harmonious mixture of wood and brick exterior. The living room, with fireplace, and dining room are in a line, providing a sweep of 28 feet. The kitchen has an excellent arrangement of appliances and work surfaces, with lavatory and rear door to one side and family room to the other. Sliding glass doors lead from the family room to a private terrace adjacent to a long porch. The bedroom wing is cushioned from noise by closets and a soundproof wall. Plan HA450M contains 936 square feet of living space.

Teen-Ager's Room Should Have Ample Storage Space

Does that teen - ager's room sometimes resemble a village recently sacked by Attila the Hun — walls scratched and marred, clothes on the floor, mementos strewn on every furniture top:

Strategic planning and imaginative remodeling may be the way to end this havoc. Here are three remodeling maneuvers: 1. Use sturdy materials that will endure. 2. Make sure there is ample storage space; 3. Make the room attractive so teens will take pride in it.

Best defense against walls besieged by scuffing, finger marks and stains might be hardboard paneling. There's a choice of prefinished, plastic-surfaced or ready-to-paint panels, all easy to install over furring strips with nails or special adhesive.

STANDARD four-by-eight foot panels, which can be worked with ordinary carpentry tools, come in handsome wood grains, colors, patterns and interesting textures. The panels are durable, abrasion resistant, and wipe clean with a damp cloth.

To provide handy storage space and override pleas of "where can I put things?" turn all or part of one wall of the room into a combination storage and display center, with panels of perforated hardboard.

Brackets and hooks inserted in the perforations will support shelves for books and knick-knacks, or the youngsters can simply put up their favorite keepsakes in sight but out of the way. Perforated panels installed on the inside of closet doors also provide extra storage space for clothing.

To make the room even more attractive, choose furnishings and accessories that are young-at-heart, casual and comfortable. Teens love to lounge on beds, chairs and floors, so don't restrict them with expensive upholstery and bedspreads.

Washable — but colorful — fabrics, lots of cushions, and a resilient floor covering are ideal for young rooms.

So teens won't think it's all play and no work, do set aside one part of the room for more serious pursuits. A roomy desk, reading chair and good lighting can provide a simple but effective study center for their school work.

The final ingredient for a perfect room is privacy — one aspect parents sometimes forget. Whether they're entertaining friends or cramming for an exam, teen-agers like to have a room that's exclusively theirs, free from the invasion of toddlers and the interruptions of adults.

Given a comfortable, good-looking hide-away, some teens might go so far as to take reasonably good care of it!

Finance Project 6 Ways

Thinking of adding a new room or patio, modernizing the kitchen, or even building a swimming pool? Then it may be time to take advantage of bank home improvement loan services.

The desire to add ease and comfort to daily living, and at the same time increase property value, is certainly not a frivolous venture. Banks, therefore, stand ready to loan necessary cash for such projects.

Following is a summary of the six main ways to finance home improvements today, according to the American Bankers Association.

1. Title I Loan. This short-term loan insured by the Federal Housing Administration, allows for borrowing up to $3,500 with five years to repay. Generally, the cost is five dollars per year for every $100 borrowed. The loan is discounted, that is, the interest is deducted in advance from the amount borrowed.

Such loans can be used only to finance permanent improvements of the existing structure. They do not apply to non-essential projects such as a tennis court or a greenhouse.

2. Bank Home-Improvement Loan. On the face of it, the terms of this loan look to be almost the same as a Title I loan; it allows for borrowing up to $3,500, and in some cases more, with five years to repay, depending on the bank's policy.

Interest varies from a five dollar to seven dollar discount per $100 a year. The loans cost slightly more, but the money can be used for many improvements considered non-essential under FHA regulations, such as wall-to-wall carpeting and even landscaping, which wouldn't qualify for a Title I loan.

3. FHA Long - Term Loan. Under Section 203K of the Federal Housing Act, a homeowner may be able to borrow up to $10,000 for a one-family dwelling, $20,000 for two-family, $30,000 for a three-family and $37,500 for a four-family. One condition, however, is that the property cannot be within urban renewal areas.

Interest runs about six per cent a year. The duration of the loan can be as long as 20 years.

If the home is less than 10 years old, the loan must be used to make major structural change, such as adding a new wing or room. On older homes, such funds may be used for any type of improvement.

4. Open-End Mortgage Loan. Does the mortgage contain an "open-end" provision? If so, it may be possible to borrow an amount equal to what has already been paid off, adding the amount borrowed to the mortgage loan.

5. Refinancing Present Mortgage. If there's a conventional mortgage without an open - end claus, it may be retired, then replaced by a new one in a larger amount, to include the money for improvements.

Note, however, that some states do not permit refinancing.

6. Personal Bank Loan. If the home improvement projects are small, consider a personal bank loan. Repayment periods are usually shorter than with other home-improvement loans. If other avenues are closed, however, it is worth investigating.

All-Purpose Tool

Electric Drill Proves Handy

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The ¼-inch electric drill is probably the first power tool the home handyman will buy.

It is easily the one most popular power tool around. It isn't just the ability to drill a few holes that accounts for that poppensive attachments and accessories available for the ¼-inch drill the tool becomes more versatile, more useful. If you like power unit for a small home you can almost turn it into the work shop.

With the multitude of inexularity.

THE BASIC idea is that the drill provides the power for a number of other tools instead of having each one powered separately.

One inexpensive attachment which will get great use is one for polishing. All you need is a rubber disk which it fitted with a metal shaft that fits into the drill's chuck. A lamb's wool bonnet is fitted over the disk and tied in place.

Once you've applied wax to your car, for example, you can use the polishing attachment to finish the job instead of rubbing by hand. Polishing attachments are available with a long handle which will permit you to polish a floor without stooping.

Next is the sanding attachment. Simplest is the same rubber disk again to which are attached sanding disks which are available in a variety of grits.

This type is useful for removing paint or rust. As with all sanding, start with the coarse grit and use successively finer paper.

One trouble with this sort of sanding is that it leaves swirling marks. More closely resembling hand sanding is the vibrating sanding attachment.

Simple and inexpensive is a paint - stirring attachment. When you use it, remember to pour off some of the paint first if the can is full and insert the mixer all the way to the bottom of the can. Turn off the power before removing the mixer from the can.

Screw - driving attachments take screwdriver bits, make a hard job faster and easier. However, if you are buying a new drill investigate the new variable speed models and those that can be reversed. With these it isn't necessary to have an attachment to cut down on power since the drill does it for you.

THERE ARE circular - saw attachments that will turn your drill into a small power saw. These come complete with blade guards and adjustments for angle and depth of cut.

There also is a saber saw attachment which turns the unit into a portable jig saw.

A grinding - wheel attachment makes the drill an electric sharpener for knives and other tools. But before you use one, get yourself a bench-mounting attachment for your electric drill. This holds the drill in a stationary position on your work bench, leaves your hands free to hold the work.

Keep the drill in the stand when using a flexible shaft. With drill bits or other accessories fitted into the end of the shaft you can manipulate them with greater control.

A right - angle drive is just what it seems to be. The unit consists of a housing containing a set of gears so that you can drill and sand at an angle, great for tight spots.

But there's another advantage. It will change the speed of the drill, either doubling it or cutting it in half. At a slower speed the drill is more powerful and you can drill large holes in hard materials.

3 Courts Report February Funds Totaling $11,680

LISBON — The three Columbiana County courts — Southwest here, Northwest at Salem and Eastern at East Palestine —had receipts of $11,680 during February.

In reports filed with the County Commissioners, Southwest listed 132 cases and receipts of $3,262, while Northwest showed 176 ($3,478) and eastern 174 ($4,940).

The courts paid to the State Treasurer $2,938, representing 45 per cent of the fines in State Highway Patrol cases —$706 from Southwest, $803 from Northwest and $1,429 from Eastern.

There were 46 small claims filed last month — 25 in Northwest, 17 in Southwest, and six in eastern.

Eastern, with jurisdiction over the eastern half of the county, had a total of 144 criminal and traffic cases compared with 120 in Northwest and 93 in Southwest.

Jetliner Delivered Humphrey's Tuxedo

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — What happens when you're scheduled to be principal speaker at the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick's dinner and you forget your formal attire?

If you're vice president of the United States, you send your jetliner back to Washington to get it.

Vice President Hubert H Humphrey arrived in Scranton Sunday night without a tuxedo. The discovery was made shortly after the $3 million jet landed at the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre airport at 5:05 p.m.

The Lockheed Jetstar went back to Washington National Airport and returned at 7:42 p.m. A state police car transported the formal wear to the vice president waiting at a Scranton hotel.

Two Young Brothers Drown In Ohio River

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two young brothers drowned Sunday in the Ohio River on Pittsburgh's North Side.

Authorities said Richard Brower, 6, and his brother Wilbert, 8, fell out of a boat.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

How many presidents were born in log cabins? The World Almanac says that Fillmore, Buchanan, Lincoln and Garfield were born in one-room dwellings made of logs notched at the corners. Jackson and Arthur was born in log houses rather than in one-room log cabins. Jefferson's birthplace, Shadwell, on the Virginia frontier, is believed to have been a log house.

How To Dress Up A Summer Home

A summer home needn't be a stepchild. With wise planning, imagination and the right building materials, it can give you as much comfort and pleasure as a year-round home.

A good example of how remodeling can work wonders on a summer home is a vacation retreat that originally had two small bedrooms and an open living - dining - kitchen area. It was sufficient for the family, but there were insufficient facilities and little privacy for guests.

THE OWNERS decided on a room addition and refurbishing of the main house. More important, they geared the remodeling to good looks and low maintenance to assure maximum comfort, easy care and greater enjoyment of their summer quarters.

A new bedroom wing and a second bath were added to solve the space and privacy problems.

A wood deck was extended to twice its size to provide a separate entry to the guest wing and an additional entry to the main house through sliding doors. Beauty and low maintenance were achieved through a careful choice of materials.

Casement windows were used in the room addition. Style choice was determined by the fact that some windows would have to be reached across a bed, and casements — which open with the turn of a handle— can be operated easily in awkward places. Also, the uninterrupted glass expanse of casements and fixed - glass windows allowed a wide view of the rustic scene outside.

FOR maintenance - free exterior walls, the owners chose a rough - textured cedar siding that will weather naturally and enhance the house's rustic look. An eye - catching blue door, with fade - resistant color that doesn't need painting, has a white frame to match the vinyl sheathing of the windows.

The biggest change inside the original house was a new easy-care embossed vinyl flooring which runs through all the rooms, adding a new dimension of spaciousness and unity. Laminate - surfaced cabinets and counters were added to the kitchen for more eating and storage room and simplified upkeep. Emphasis on easy-care was also reflected in the new bath, which has a vinyl wall-covering and a fiber glass shower.

To give the house a country look inside as well as out, gay floral fabrics, deck chairs and wicker furniture were used extensively. Not surprisingly, fabrics were chosen for their washability and permanent - press finish.

$3 For Stolen Gas Sent To Treasurer

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP) — Jackson County Treasurer Chester Guches received $3 and this letter:

"Dear Sir: Approximately eight or nine years ago, while I was still in high school, myself and a friend stole about 10 gallons of gas from a loader near Willow Lake. In the past month this has been bothering me and now I feel I should make things right. Enclosed please find $3 which should cover the cost of the gas."

Members Of Clergy Urged To Seek Office

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — An Episcopal bishop says members of the clergy should run for political office.

The Rt. Rev. C. Edward Crowther, affiliated with the Center for the Study of Democretic Institutions at Santa Barbara, said Sunday he might "seriously consider heeding my own advice."

"I don't recall any bishops running for Congress in the history of the United States, but I believe the church is moving in the direction of a tremendous social involvement, which makes this next step a logical one," he said.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm sure you receive many letters from wives whose husbands sock them around from time to time. Have you ever heard from a husband who gets slapped, kicked and punched?

Well, this is my problem and I need to know what to do about it. We have three small children and if I ever lose control of myself and give my wife what she deserves she'll be in the hospital for a month.

You probably want to know why she hits me. Here's what set off the last two episodes: She forgot where she parked the car and I had to ride around town in a taxi for an hour before I found it. When I got home I was disgusted and told her so. She socked me in the jaw and broke my bridge.

Last night when I came home from work the soup was burning on the stove and my wife was next door visiting with a friend. I gave her a piece of my mind and she hauled off and kicked me. Now I have a lump on my leg the size of a golf ball.

If anyone had told me I'd wind up writing to Ann Landers for help I'd have said they were crazy, but I need someone to tell me what to do about this wild woman.—H.B.L.

Dear H.B.L.: You don't have three children, Mister, you have four. A woman who has such a short fuse needs to learn how to handle her hostilities in a rational, civilized manner. Insist that she get counseling. I feel sorry for those kids as well as for you. Rest assured they catch plenty in your absence. Your doctor can direct you.

Taken In

Dear Ann: I'm almost ashamed to write because my problem makes me sound like a moron, but the truth is I'm being victimized by a 5-year-old child.

Almost every morning when I come home from work this little neighbor girl is standing outside my door. I live in an apartment. Sally is a darling child, and I enjoy her company, but there are times when I'd like to be alone.

More often than not Sally asks me if she can stay for supper and I say yes. If I didn't lead her by the hand and take her home at 8 p.m. she'd stay all night.

It seems strange to me that her parents never seem to be looking for her. When I bring her home they are very pleasant and thank me for being so "nice."

Last night I was very tired, and didn't want company so I thought I'd sneak in the back door. I wasn't in my apartment five minutes when Sally and her mother appeared at the door. The mother said, "Your girl friend wants to see you."

I pretended to be pleased because I didn't want to hurt the child's feelings. Again Sally stayed for supper and when I took her home at 7:45 I was mad at myself. What's the solution to my problem, Ann? — TRAPPED.

Dear Trapped: The little girl isn't victimizing you, her mother is. Unless you extricate yourself from this weird situation you may be stuck with it until Sally gets married.

Tell the mother, (privately, of course), that there are times when you need to be alone after work — that you'll come and get Sally when you want her and please not to allow her to wait at your door. If the child turns up anyway, take her by the hand and return her to her mother.

Auto Thefts Skyrocket

By RICHARD H. Smith
Associated Press Writer

CLEVELAND (AP)—One day last summer Dennis Wilcox, then Associated Press traffic bureau chief here, left the Plain Dealer Building for home and found an open space where he had parked his prized new Buick hardtop.

Only ten minutes earlier, a co-worker had gone by the spot and the car was there. The co-worker had taken note because a few weeks earlier Wilcox's car was stolen from a parking place near the office and recovered with all four wheels missing.

Now it was gone again. And it was recovered again—This time stripped completely.

Wilcox's misfortune accounted for two of Cleveland's 11,325 auto thefts last year. The total was nearly 50 per cent above the 1966 total and adds up to 31 cars a day with a few to spare.

Each stolen car means a day of inconvenience and consumes hours of time for the unlucky owner, not to mention expense, even for the fully insured. The value of cars stolen in Cleveland last year was estimated at more than $12.5 million.

An organization called the Greater Cleveland Auto Theft Prevention Committee, sparked by insurance company executives, plans to start a campaign later this month to reduce auto thefts here.

Speakers will visit high schools, service clubs and other audiences. Literature will be distributed at shopping centers.

An effort will be made to prepare the public for strict enforcement of an existing city ordinance prohibiting the leaving of ignition keys in unattended vehicles.

The increase in cars stolen in Cleveland in 1967 over 1966 was greater than the total of stolen cars in any other Ohio city last year. Cleveland went up from 7,132 to 11,325 cars.

For further comparison, increases over 1966 in some other large cities were: Akron, 51 per cent to 3,017 total in 1967; Cincinnati, 57 per cent to 1,482; Columbus, 15 per cent to 2,900; Dayton, 65 per cent to 1,685; Toledo, 38 per cent to 1,882; and Youngstown, 41 per cent to 1,224.

All these figures, released late last week, are compiled by the FBI from reports submitted by local police departments.

Lt. Edward J. Greiger, head of the Cleveland Police Department's auto theft unit, who is on the auto theft prevention committee, says there are a variety of reasons for the upward surge in car-stealing.

"The criminal is just getting smarter," Greiger said. "He's turning to the automotive field. The penalty's less; the gains greater.

"He cracks a safe, and it's a lot of work and risk. And he doesn't know for sure what's inside. He can have that parked new car rolling in seconds, and he knows how much he can get for it."

More than 50 per cent of the persons arrested for auto theft are juveniles. Part of the reason for this, Lt. Greiger says, is catch.

Juveniles contribute heavily to another interesting statistic —that the driver of a stolen car is 200 times more likely to get involved in a wreck than is the ordinary driver.

Lt. Greiger said a big majority of the juveniles arrested for car theft are joy - riding, or operating without the owner's consent, rather than trying to get permanent possession of the vehicle.

"When it runs out of gas, or they crack it up, they take off," the police officer said.

Lt. Greiger believes one of the most effective ways to reduce auto thefts would be to have new legislation aimed at taking the profit out of it. The new laws would eliminate what he calls "the salvage racket."

"When a late model car is a total wreck and sold for salvage, the title should be perforated or stamped on the face," Greiger said. "Now worthless wrecks, already stripped of useful parts, are sometimes bought by a thief who wants title to use with a like-model car he goes out and steals."

Auto Thefts Skyrocket

By RICHARD H. Smith
Associated Press Writer

CLEVELAND (AP)—One day last summer Dennis Wilcox, then Associated Press traffic bureau chief here, left the Plain Dealer Building for home and found an open space where he had parked his prized new Buick hardtop.

Only ten minutes earlier, a co-worker had gone by the spot and the car was there. The co-worker had taken note because a few weeks earlier Wilcox's car was stolen from a parking place near the office and recovered with all four wheels missing.

Now it was gone again. And it was recovered again—This time stripped completely.

Wilcox's misfortune accounted for two of Cleveland's 11,325 auto thefts last year. The total was nearly 59 per cent above the 1966 total and adds up to 31 cars a day with a few to spare.

Each stolen car means a day of inconvenience and consumes hours of time for the unlucky owner, not to mention expense, even for the fully insured. The value of cars stolen in Cleveland last year was estimated at more than $12.5 million.

An organization called the Greater Cleveland Auto Theft Prevention Committee, sparked by insurance company executives, plans to start a campaign later this month to reduce auto thefts here.

Speakers will visit high schools, service clubs and other audiences. Literature will be distributed at shopping centers.

An effort will be made to prepare the public for strict enforcement of an existing city ordinance prohibiting the leaving of ignition keys in unattended vehicles.

The increase in cars stolen in Cleveland in 1967 over 1966 was greater than the total of stolen cars in any other Ohio city last year. Cleveland went up from 7,132 to 11,325 cars.

For further comparison, increases over 1966 in some other large cities were: Akron, 51 per cent to 3,017 total in 1967; Cincinnati, 57 per cent to 1,482; Columbus, 15 per cent to 2,900; Dayton, 65 per cent to 1,685; Toledo, 38 per cent to 1,882; and Youngstown, 41 per cent to 1,224.

All these figures, released late last week, are compiled by the FBI from reports submitted by local police departments.

Lt. Edward J. Greiger, head of the Cleveland Police Department's auto theft unit, who is on the auto theft prevention committee, says there are a variety of reasons for the upward surge in car-stealing.

"The criminal is just getting smarter," Greiger said. "He's turning to the automotive field. The penalty's less; the gains greater.

"He cracks a safe, and it's a lot of work and risk. And he doesn't know for sure what's inside. He can have that parked new car rolling in seconds, and he knows how much he can get for it."

More than 50 per cent of the persons arrested for auto theft are juveniles. Part of the reason for this, Lt. Greiger says, is catch.

Juveniles contribute heavily to another interesting statistic—that the driver of a stolen car is 200 times more likely to get involved in a wreck than is the ordinary driver.

Lt. Greiger said a big majority of the juveniles arrested for car theft are joy - riding, or operating without the owner's consent, rather than trying to get permanent possession of the vehicle.

"When it runs out of gas, or they crack it up, they take off," the police officer said.

Lt. Greiger believes one of the most effective ways to reduce auto thefts would be to have new legislation aimed at taking the profit out of it. The new laws would eliminate what he calls "the salvage racket."

"When a late model car is a total wreck and sold for salvage, the title should be perforated or stamped on the face," Greiger said. "Now worthless wrecks, already stripped of useful parts, are sometimes bought by a thief who wants title to use with a like-model car he goes out and steals."

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR FRIENDS: Many, many of you have written me about stains on various genuine marble-topped pieces in your homes — coffee and rust stains being the most bothersome. As marble-topped furniture usually represents the outlay of a good deal of money, I know how concerned you are when something mars its beautiful finish.

Here's the lastest from my friend Don A. Hagerich, of the Marble Institute of America on the removal of these stains. . . .

"Most stains on marble will require the use of a poultice made with white paper napkins or white cleansing tissue and a commercial whiting or powdered household cleaner mixed with a little water. The poultice should be soaked in this solution and kept from drying out while it is on the marble. It can be covered with a piece of glass or a sheet of plastic to keep the moisture from evaporating while the stain is being drawn out, which may take from one to 48 hours.

"Once the stain is removed, the area may require repolishing: Wet the surface with clear water and sprinkle on polishing powder (tin oxide, available from hardware stores or local marble shops). Rub the powder onto the marble with a damp cloth or using a piece of felt. Continue buffing until etch mark disappears and the marble surface shines."

Then they go on to say that tea and coffee stains will often disappear without treatment after the staining substance has been removed. Wash the surface with clean water and apply a poultice soaked with Hydrogen Peroxide (20 volume) or Household Ammonia.

"For rust stains, use a poultice soaked in commercial iron rust remover.

"For oil stains such as peanut butter, etc., use a poultice soaked in Amyl Acetate or Acetone. All procedures must be rinsed well and wiped dry."

Folks, be sure to clip this "nugget of gold" and keep it in a good spot so the next time you have marble problems, you'll know just what to do.

Now go have a cup of coffee and drink an extra one for me. And if you spill some on your marble coffee table you needn't worry!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I live alone and seldom drink milk, so keep only a small box of powdered milk on hand. However, I never liked the flat taste and got to wondering if instant cream would help it.

Well, bless my soul, it worked. I could hardly believe it would make so much difference.

Now I mix one quart of the powdered milk with two level tablespoons of instant cream. Wonderful also for cream pies, cereals and cream sauces — and low-caloried, too.

MARGERET BARNES.

DEAR HELOISE: A policeman gave me a tip that I could like to pass along.

Keep the porch light burning all night. This prevents a potential burglar from working on your door latch. They can be seen from the street that way.

Also, for women who live alone, he suggested tying a few tin cans together with some string and tying this to the inside of your doorknob!

He even said a cow bell was great for a noisemaker at night should anyone try to get in.

Nine times out of 10 he said this shoos them away when they hear the noise, but the best part about it is that you can hear it, too, and call for help.

BIG D.

DEAR HELOISE: The other day I was trying to clean a large, narrow-necked bottle, but didn't have a bottle brush.

I got my plastic back scratcher and found that the little cupped hand would guide the dishcloth anywhere in the bottle.

The long handle is especially helpful.

LOUISA TROWBRIDGE.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you know that a serrated steak knife would make the prettiest shell design when spreading cream cheese or any spread on crackers and dainty sandwiches? Really make them look festive!

ALICE.

Have you ever tried using that serrated blade to spread cake icing? Try that one sometime. Real perky!

Calcutta Group Holds Program

A chorus of third, fourth and fifth graders presented the program when the Calcutta School Mothers Club met Wednesday afternoon in the school multipurpose room.

The group sang several selections under the direction of Miss Sharon Bell, elementary vocal instructor.

Mrs. Peg Barker, chairman of the ways and means, committee, said a bake sale will be held March 23 at Hills.

Mrs. Jean Madison, president, said Mrs. Lottie Sakraida of Beaver Falls will be guest speaker at a meeting April 10 at 1 p.m. in the sschool. She will demonstrate Easter decorations, including egg coloring.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Beryldene Bertschey and a committee.

CLEANING TIPS
From PRESSWELL
by Paul Seckman

SHRINKAGE IN HOUSEHOLD FABRICS

FABRIC FACTS . . . Shrinkage in household fabrics continues to be a serious problem for drycleaners and consumers. Most interior decorators advise the consumer to make drapes longer and furniture covers free fitting to compensate for the expected 2% shrinkage. However, shrinkage of up to 8% occurs in household fabric due to (a) improper or lack of preshrinkage in fabric manufacture or (b) improper application of a stabilizer process in the fabric finish. Severe shrinkage has been reported most frequently among heavier type household furnishing fabrics such as cretonne, brocade and damask.

SHRINKAGE . . . To be serviceable, a household fabric from shrinking more than 2%, after it is made up into drapes, slipcovers or other household articles. To prevent a fabric from shrinking more than 2%, it must be either (a) preshrunk or (b) stabilized. PRESHRINKAGE is the process of shrinking fabric by steaming or wetting before it is made into articles. STABILIZATION is the process of applying a resin sizing to a fabric. The resin sizing coats the yarns and protects them from the shrinkage effects of moisture and heat.

THE HUMIDITY, heat and moisture to which household furnishings are exposed in normal wear may cause noticeable shrinkage. The heat and moisture used in drycleaning and finishing may cause severe shrinkage of up to 8%.

SUMMARY . . . Shrinkage in household fabrics range from negligible (2%) to severe (8%). The fabric, style and end use will determine whether the shrinkage prevention process to be used will be preshrinkage or stabilization. In either case, if the process is faulty, humidity, heat and moisture will cause shrinkage. Since the drycleaner can not identify the properly processed household furnishing fabric from the faultily processed fabric, he would be well advised to inform the consumer in advance of the possibility of severe shrinkage. Even if the drycleaner could identify an improperly processed household furnishing fabric, he can do little to control shrinkage in such fabric.

Somebody asked us what the Ohio Bell Philosophy is.

It's "The best possible service at the lowest possible cost consistent with financial safety and fair treatment of employees."

Meaning: "Keep the service up and the cost down."

We can show it with our "low cost" sign: arm down, elbow bent, palm down parallel with the ground.

And we can prove it with a few startling facts: while the cost of most everything else has gone up, local telephone rates have not.

Not since 1959.

Yet the quality of telephone service has gone up steadily since then.

You can call more people without additional charge.

You can call them quicker.

You can hear them better (and they can hear you better.)

You can call long distance faster and cheaper than ever. (Just this past November long distance rates were reduced for the seventh time since 1959.)

So you see, we have been keeping the quality of service up and the cost down. That's our philosophy. Ohio Bell

Keep the porch light burning all night. This prevents a potential burglar from working on your door latch. They can be seen from the street that way.

Also, for women who live alone, he suggested tying a few tin cans together with some string and tying this to the inside of your doorknob!

He even said a cow bell was great for a noisemaker at night should anyone try to get in.

Nine times out of 10 he said this shoos them away when they hear the noise, but the best part about it is that you can hear it, too, and call for help.

DEAR HELOISE: The other day I was trying to clean a large, narrow-necked bottle, but didn't have a bottle brush.

I got my plastic back scratcher and found that the little cupped hand would guide the dishcloth anywhere in the bottle.

The long handle is especially helpful.

It's also the greatest for retrieving articles behind or under heavy furniture.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you know that a serrated steak knife would make the prettiest shell design when spreading cream cheese or any spread on crackers and dainty sandwiches? Really make them look festive!

Have you ever tried using that serrated blade to spread cake icing? Try that one sometime. Real perky!

SHRINKAGE IN HOUSEHOLD FABRICS

FABRIC FACTS . . . Shrinkage in household fabrics continues to be a serious problem for drycleaners and consumers. Most interior decorators advise the consumer to make drapes longer and furniture covers free fitting to compensate for the expected 2% shrinkage. However, shrinkage of up to 8% occurs in household fabric due to (a) improper or lack of preshrinkage in fabric manufacture or (b) improper application of a stabilizer process in the fabric finish. Severe shrinkage has been reported most frequently among heavier type household furnishing fabrics such as cretonne, brocade and damask.

SHRINKAGE . . . To be serviceable, a household fabric from shrinking more than 2%, after it is made up into drapes, slipcovers or other household articles. To prevent a fabric from shrinking more than 2%, it must be either (a) preshrunk or (b) stabilized. PRESHRINKAGE is the process of shrinking fabric by steaming or wetting before it is made into articles. STABILIZATION is the process of applying a resin sizing to a fabric. The resin sizing coats the yarns and protects them from the shrinkage effects of moisture and heat.

THE HUMIDITY, heat and moisture to which household furnishings are exposed in normal wear may cause noticeable shrinkage. The heat and moisture used in drycleaning and finishing may cause severe shrinkage of up to 8%.

SUMMARY . . . Shrinkage in household fabrics range from negligible (2%) to severe (8%). The fabric, style and end use will determine whether the shrinkage prevention process to be used will be preshrinkage or stabilization. In either case, if the process is faulty, humidity, heat and moisture will cause shrinkage. Since the drycleaner can not identify the properly processed household furnishing fabric from the faultily processed fabric, he would be well advised to inform the consumer in advance of the possibility of severe shrinkage. Even if the drycleaner could identify an improperly processed household furnishing fabric, he can do little to control shrinkage in such fabric.

It's "The best possible service at the lowest possible cost consistent with financial safety and fair treatment of employees."

Meaning: "Keep the service up and the cost down."

We can show it with our "low cost" sign: arm down, elbow bent, palm down parallel with the ground.

And we can prove it with a few startling facts: while the cost of most everything else has gone up, local telephone rates have not.

Not since 1959.

Yet the quality of telephone service has gone up steadily since then.

You can call more people without additional charge.

You can call them quicker.

You can hear them better (and they can hear you better.)

You can call long distance faster and cheaper than ever. (Just this past November long distance rates were reduced for the seventh time since 1959.)

So you see, we have been keeping the quality of service up and the cost down. That's our philosophy. Ohio Bell

Things are not quite completed there yet, but in general it is a fine place in which to watch a game. The major problem is the lack of exits, with only four for the 20,000-seat arena.

As expected, things are expensive. I paid $7.50 for a relatively poor seat, nickel coke cost a quarter, 15-cent ice cream are 35 cents and 35-cent beers are 60 cents. Food prices in New York run at least 50 per cent and generally 100 per cent higher than anywhere else.

There is a pigeon loose in the Garden, a problem common to many new arenas.

OF THE SIX games I took in over the weekend, the best was LIU-Bradley, while the worst was Duquesne-Fordham. Both the Dukes and the Rams were so bad that they should have paid to get into the place. The NIT committee should have eliminated both of them and advanced Dayton to the semi-finals. The only players to play well for the Dukes were Moe Barr and Rich Carlberg.

The Dukes got no help from the officials, as it's obvious the tournament committee would like to see the New York teams remain in the tournament. But the way the Hilltoppers played they didn't deserve to win.

I won't say that Notre Dame got any breaks from the referees, but officials named O'Donnell and McNally could hardly hurt the Irish on St. Patrick's day.

Among the many enthusiastic Irish, many wearing green plastic hats, were the Villanova backers Friday night. Only LIU had more fans at the games than Villanova. There was a surprisingly large contingent from Dayton, with a lone cheerleader to encourage them. The Dayton rooters outnumbered the West Virginia rooters. Kansas, Wyoming and Bradley were the only teams that didn't have a sizeable number of backers, and even the Braves had scattered ex-Peoriaites and others urging them on.

THERE WERE six "TV Timeouts" during the Army-Notre Dame game, which irritated the fans there live and in color (mostly green).

New York is an amazing place. Every block you see something that would stop traffic somewhere else, but the Gothamites ignore the incidents.

I saw a fight, with one participant using a garbage can lid for a shield, a man carrying a bust in clay of someone, two kids engaged in a "flour fight," both white from head to toe, and a man with what had to be a permanent wave in his long blond hair. And the mini-skirts are the shortest anywhere.

The faithful — some 123,000 strong — marched in the St. Patrick's Day Parade; spectators wearing green were in abundance; buttons reading "Erin Go Bragh", "Kiss Me, I'm Irish", "Green Power", and even "I Like Irish Coffee" blossomed in profusion; and Notre Dame beat Army in the NIT.

But Duquesne was edged by Fordham 69-60 and West Virginia was whipped by Dayton 87-68 in the NIT Saturday night doubleheader at the new Madison Square Garden. LIU upset Bradley 80-77 after Notre Dame had nipped Army 62-58 in the afternoon twinbill.

Duquesne has only two Irishmen on the squad, Ron Connolly and John Kennedy, and both stayed on the bench as Red Manning's team was eliminated. It was not one of the better showings for the Dukes, playing before 16,127, the most ever to see Duquesne perform. Irishmen Frank McLaughlin and Pat Raftery helped the Fordham cause. McLaughlin and Dennis Witoski had 13 points each and Bill Langheld led the way with 19. Ron Guziak had 25 for the Dukes and Moe Barr 13.

Johnny Bach's team jumped off to a 20-7 lead, using a fast break to good advantage. Then the Dukes shifted from their 1-3-1 zone to a man-to-man, and crept to within four at 28-24 before Fordham spurted to a 34-25 halftime lead.

The first 10 minutes of the second half was an exercise in futility, with Fordham outscoring the Pittsburghers 11-7, but then Duquesne hit seven in a row to narrow the gap to 45-44 with about seven minutes left. Duquesne got the ball, but threw it away and the Rams put in three quick baskets to gain breathing room. Fast break baskets against the woeful Duquesne press widened the margin, but then Billy Zopt, who got his five points near the end, and Willie Hines made three steals to narrow the gap to 57-54 with 50 seconds left. But again a fast break basket by the Rams made the difference and the remainder of the game was spent mostly at the foul line.

West Virginia's Ron Williams and Dayton's Don May, two of the classiest players to appear in the entire tournament, waged a personal duel in the second contest until Williams got his third personal with seven minutes left in the first half. "Fritz" had scored 11 points in the first 10 minutes and May 10, as both were red-hot from the outside. The Mountaineers stayed in the game until late in the half, when the Flyers hit 10 straight points to break a 35-35 tie. A surge of nine in the early stages of the second half made it 56-39 and there was no question of the outcome at that point.

West Virginia couldn't cope with Dayton's superior height, and the biggest Flyer, 6-10 Dan Obrovac, scored 30 points. May added 24 and guard Bob Hooper, who had a hot hand early, netted 17. Williams ended with 19 markers, while Carey Bailey had 16 and Greg Ludwig 10 for the losers.

LIU trailed almost the entire contest until a six-point streak put them up 69-65 late in the game. The score was tied at 77, but leaping Luther Green scored three points in the last 20 seconds to send the Blackbirds winging to the win. Green, who at 6-6 can jump with anyone, scored 32 points, while Larry Newbold had 22, Cliff Culuko 14 and Ivan Leshinsky 10. Little Al Smith led Bradley with 22, Big Joe Allen had 21 and L. C. Bowen 19.

Bill Schutsky was a one-man gang for Army, scoring 31 points, but the Cadets couldn't overcome Notre Dame's superior height and the Irish's edge at the foul line. Jim Derrig had 16 for the winners, Bob Arnzen 15 and Bob Whitmore 11. The game was tied at 54, Notre Dame led 57-56, but then scored five straight to ice the contest, keeping the Cadets at bay with a masterful freeze. Notre Dame was 26 of 33 from the foul line to 16 of 20 for the losing Black Knights.

Central St. Wins NAIA Cage Title

The Marauders won the oldest and largest of the national tournaments — 32 teams — by edging Fairmont, W. Va., State 51-48, ending a gruelling five-game, six-day battle Sunday night.

In a regular season game, Central defeated Kentucky Wesleyan, the school that won the NCAA small college crown Friday night.

And the Marauders figure to remain on top a few more years. The team Coach Bill Lucas started in Saturday night's 51-48 title victory over Fairmont, W. Va., State at Kansas City was made up of five underclassmen.

A motorcade of about 40 cars brought the tournament champs back to the campus here from Dayton's Cox Municipal Airport. It was three years between motorcades for Lucas, who also captured the title with his 1965 Marauders.

Roy Hinton's 17 points led the way for Central State in the finals, and Robert Moore had 12. The team was noticeably tired after playing five straight nights, but clutch free throws in the final minutes nailed down the victory.

The Marauders finished with a 29-4 season record. Lucas' eight-year record at the school is 157-53.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state's last two unbeaten teams — Columbus East and Western of Pike County—head the field of eight schools that survived the hard, bumpy road to the State High School Basketball Championships at St. John Arena Friday and Saturday.

East, Ohio's top - ranked scholastic quintet with a 22-0 record, was a strong favorite to capture the Class AA title, while Western (26-0) loomed as the club to beat in the Class A division.

Coach Bob Hart's Tigers, seeking a third state championship, battle rugged Euclid (22-2) in Friday night's semi-final windup at 9:30 p.m. after a pair of upstarts, Lima Senior (21-3) and Hamilton Garfield (22-3) clash in the opener at 7:30 p.m.

In the afternoon pairings, Springfield Local of Mahoning County (23-2) goes against Cinderella tabbed Cincinnati Lincoln Heights (14-10) at 1:30 p.m. Western risks its unbeaten record against touch Mansfield St. Peter (24-3) at 3:30 p.m.

The Class AA Friday winners square off at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and the small school combatants clash at 2 p.m. Saturday.

All eight teams copped regional crowns Saturday to earn berths in the state classic.

East overpowered Newark 64-48 behind Ed Ratleff's 28 points; Euclid ousted Canton McKinley 59-51 as Al Vilcreck led the way with 26; Hamilton Garfield shattered Cincinnati Elder's 23-game winning streak, 63-51, on the strength of a big fourth quarter and Lima Senior nipped Toledo Central 67-65 when Greg Saucer scored a basket in the final five seconds.

In Class A, Mansfield St. Pete overran Kalida, 82 - 46; Springfield Local behind John Kennedy's 27 points, walloped Garaway, 70-54; Western withstood a late rally to check Portsmouth Clay 66-62 and Cincinnati Heights derailed two-time state king Dixie, 52-50.

The eight tournament team coaches met in Columbus Sunday with Ohio High School Athletic Commissioner Paul Landis and all exuded confidence.

East's Bob Hart, calmly puffing away on a pipe, perhaps was more cautious than the other mentors. He guided the Tigers to a state crown in his first year in 1963 but last season bowed in the regional final to eventual champion Columbus Linden.

"I'm hopeful that the pressure we had last year when we went into the regional finals unbeaten will help us in the state tournament. I think we are playing better now than earlier in the season because our guards have improved," Hart said.

Some capsule comments from the other coaches included:

Hal "Doc" Daugherty, Euclid —"Beating a tall team like McKinley should help us against a team like East. We're a good defensive ball club, have a good scorer and rebounder in Al Vilcheck and a fine floor leader in 5-foot-7 Al Russ."

Leigh Klingensmith, Springfield Local—"I feel we're at the peak of our game. But all the teams in this tournament are great and breaks will be a major factor."

Sikes Nips Weiskopf For Citrus Golf Title

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Dan Sikes needs only a victory in one of the major tournaments to win a ranking among pro golf's top players. But the 1968 Citrus Open champ says his main goal is to win $100,000 a year.

The long-driving veteran is just reaching his peak at the age of 37. He has his sights set this year on claiming a title in one of the prestige tournaments, such as the Masters.

"And if I keep playing like I did last year and I have here, I believe I should be ranked in the top five or six players," he said Sunday.

"But my big goal is to win $100,000 again," added the attorney-golfer from Jacksonville, Fla., after winning the $23,000 Citrus Open Sunday.

Sikes harvested $111,000 from golf tournaments in 1967 when he won the Jacksonville Open and the Philadelphia Classic.

"But I've never played better than I did in the last round here," Sikes said. "I'm always a good driver, but not like this. I was right down the middle on every hole."

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Dan Sikes needs only a victory in one of the major tournaments to win a ranking among pro golf's top players. But the 1968 Citrus Open champ says his main goal is to win $100,000 a year.

The long-driving veteran is just reaching his peak at the age of 37. He has his sights set this year on claiming a title in one of the prestige tournaments, such as the Masters.

"And if I keep playing like I did last year and I have here, I believe I should be ranked in the top five or six players," he said Sunday.

"But my big goal is to win $100,000 again," added the attorney-golfer from Jacksonville, Fla., after winning the $23,000 Citrus Open Sunday.

Sikes harvested $111,000 from golf tournaments in 1967 when he won the Jacksonville Open and the Philadelphia Classic.

"But I've never played better than I did in the last round here," Sikes said. "I'm always a good driver, but not like this. I was right down the middle on every hole."

Indians Long Shot For 1st Division

By JIM CHURCH
Associated Press Sports Write

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians hope a couple of trades and a new brand of golf ball justice can snap them out of the second division. But it's a long shot.

The Indians have a new manager in Alvin Dark, a stark contrast to Joe Adcock, who cracked the whip.

"This man treats you like a human being," catcher Joe Azcue said of Dark, who managed Kansas City to a last-place finish in the American League last year.

"It was like a concentration camp last year," said outfielder Leon Wagner. "He would fine guys $50, $100, $150 for missing signs."

"I guess I've fined fewer players than any manager in baseball," Dark said. The biggest fine, he said, was a case of golf balls for missing curfew.

Dark buys the golf balls wholesale and gives them to players and coaches who want to play on their days off. Players who don't play golf, he said, probably would escape with a reprimand.

The Indians, who won their last pennant in 1954, slipped to eighth last season, 17 games behind Boston.

"I've got to see the pitchers in at least five outings and it's too early to tell about the young players," he said. "I'm still finding out what kind of material we have."

The biggest of many problems is second base. The position is up for grabs between Vern Fuller, who hit .233 last season, Pedro Gonzalez .228, Chico Salmon .227, and Chuck Hinton .245. Fuller and Gonzalez played 64 games each last season.

Azcue .256, and Duke Sims .202, will share the catching duties. Ken Suarez, who hit .238 in 39 games for Kansas City, may make it as a third catcher.

The Indians have great hopes for Davis, who missed all last season with a foot injury. In 1965 he hit 33 home runs and batted .311 at Portland, Ore. in the Pacific Coast League and in 1966 he split the season between Cleveland and Portland.

Shortstop Larry Brown is hoping to bounce back from his poorest batting average, .227 in pro ball. Max Alvis, .256 with 21 homers, is a fixture at third.

The acquisition of Jose Vardenal from California and Tommy Harper from Cincinnati give the Indians plenty of speed in the outfield. Cardenal hit .236 for the Angels and Harper slumped to .225 for the Reds.

Rich Scheinblum, a rookie who hit .291 with 16 homers for Portland, and Jose Vidal, up for his third chance with Cleveland, are hopeful of sticking.

Pitchers Sam McDowell, Sonny Siebert, Luis Tiant and Steve Hargan give the Indians an excellent starting four. The team still hopes for greatness from the fireballing McDowell, who was 13-15 with a 3.85 earned run average last year.

Tiant was 12-9 and Siebert was 10-12. Hargan pitched well enough early last season to make the All-Star team and finished at 14-13.

Best of the young hurlers in spring training has been Tom Gramly, 22, who was 14-9 at Portland.

Braves Cut Blanchard

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

John Blanchard, a spectacular pinch hitter during the New York Yankees' years of greatness, is on his way back to the minors, his comeback try a failure.

"Tony's going to be okay," Red Sox Manager Dick Williams said Sunday after Conigliaro's 400-foot double had ignited a decisive rally in Boston's 3-2 exhibition baseball victory over World Series rival St. Louis at St. Petersburg, Fla.

"He's standing up there without flinching," Williams said. "I've been watching him, and he's going to make it."

But for Blanchard, 35 and trying a comeback after two years away, it was a different, sadder story. He was one of 11 players cut by the Atlanta Braves at West Palm Beach, Fla. after dropping a 9-3 decision to Washington.

"I tried to make it because I love the game," he said. "I missed it. I wanted to play some more, maybe then catch on as a coach or manager."

In the other Florida games, Cincinnati clipped Baltimore 7-5 at Miami, Houston edged Minnesota 7-6 at Orlando, the Yankees beat Los Angeles 3-1 at Fort Lauderdale, Oakland nipped the New York Mets 3-2 at Bradenton, Pittsburgh blanked Philadelphia 5-0 at Fort Myers and Detroit hammered the Chicago White Sox 8-4 at Lakeland.

In Arizona, Cleveland edged California 3-2 and San Francisco defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-1.

Conigliaro hit 20 home runs before being sidelined for the last seven weeks of the 1967 season with a fractured cheek bone and double vision after being hit by a pitched ball.

He started Boston's two-run rally against the Cards' Steve Carlton with a double in the ninth. Reggie Smith followed with a triple and Rico Petrocelli's sacrifice fly won it. It was only the second loss of the spring for the champion Cardinals.

Washington jumped on Atlanta pitcher Tony Cloninger for seven runs and eight hits—including a three-run homer by Mike Epstein—in three innings and coasted in.

Don Pavletich drove in three runs with a homer, his third of the spring, and a single in Cincinnati's easy conquest of Baltimore.

Hal King had four RBI on a double and a single and led Houston past Minnesota. Rookie Graig Nettles drove in four Twins' runs, three on a homer.

Pinch hitter John Donaldson's single drove in two seventh inning runs and sewed up Oakland's victory over the Mets. Diego Segui got credit for the A's sixth victory of the spring.

Matty Alou doubled in two runs and Roberto Clemente's double sent across another, while Tom Sisk pitched five innings of shutout ball in Pittsburgh's victory over Philadelphia.

Sparkling pitching by righthanders Ron Herbel and Bob Bolin took San Francisco by the Cubs. Herbel allowed only one hit in four innings and Bolin gave up only two more the rest of the way.

Majors May Expand To 24 Teams By 1969

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Hints of imminent National League expansion circulated freely Sunday. This followed published reports that the American League will split into two six-team divisions next year.

American League sources however, denied the divisional setup has been formalized. National League club owners, reportedly panicked by the AL plan, remained mum on the possibility of 1969 expansion.

A National League committee will meet to discuss expanions before the regular spring session of the major league's Executive Council Wednesday and Thursday. If expansion to 12 teams in 1969 is recommended by the NL committee, it will be put before the league club owners sometime next month.

Published accounts have stated that the American League would announce within 30 days a two-division split in 1969, with a pennant playoff between the division winners.

The reports said the American League already had notified the National League of the move, triggering a series of frantic secret meetings of NL club owners.

Ohio State Cinderella Team In NCAA Finals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The last time Ohio State got this far in an NCAA basketball tournament, the Buckeyes were expected to go all the way.

This time around, they're the Cinderella team that seemingly finished the season two week ago.

Instead, the Buckeyes finished the season for fifth-ranked Kentucky Saturday night in the Wildcats' own den with an 82-81 upset that earned them a ticket to Los Angeles and the final weekend of college basketball's biggest show.

"It was a real thrill to beat a good Kentucky team when it had a good game—a real good game—right on its own floor," said Coach Fred Taylor, who won the NCAA crown in 1960 with his Jerry Lucas - John Havlicek team, then suffered through upset losses to Cincinnati the next two years.

"We beat one of the best. Now we go out to California and go after them. But it will be rough," said junior Steve Howell, one of the Buckeyes' stars in the wild weekend in Lexington.

"Them" is the rest of the semifinal field—Houston, UCLA and North Carolina. The Buckeyes play Carolina Friday night, at 10 p.m., EST, then—win or lose—take on one of the season's super teams the next night.

Rupp had predicted a tough battle before the game, but afterward he was more frank when he told one reporter: "We thought we'd win easily, by about 12 points."

Sophomore Dave Sorenson settled it when he took captain Bill Hosket's pass on an out-of-bounds play and banked in a short jump shot with five seconds to play. That gave Sorenson 24 points for the game, and he was named the regional's most valuable player. Hosket joined him on the all-tournament team.

Despite the quarter break on campus, several hundred students and fans greeted the Buckeyes when they flew in from Lexington Sunday. The team flies to Los Angeles Thursday morning, and 1,000 tournament tickets are on sale today and Tuesday at St. John Arena for fans who want to follow.

Sophomore James Leads Villanova Track Victory

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — In this Olympic year, a youth movement emerged crisply from last weekend's NCAA Indoor Track and Field Meet with three winning sophomores—two in world record fashion—and two freshmen scoring impressive triumphs.

James, who whirled the fastest 440 on an 11-lap board track at 47.0, also anchored Villanova's one mile relay team to an NCAA record 3:14.4 victory.

Another sophomore, Bob Beamon of Texas-El Paso, became a prime Olympic broad jump prospect with another all-time indoor best—27-2¾—and also won the triple jump to join famed Jim Ryun of Kansas as the meet's doubles winners.

Ryun won the mile Saturday at a straggly 4:06.8 after the world outdoor record holder at 1,500 meters, the mile and 880, won the two-mile Friday night.

Villanova's freshman, Martin Liquori, won an invitational mile in 4:05 and said he will try for a 1;500-meter Olympic berth.

Another freshman, Jim Green of Kentucky, whipped such swifties as Lennox Miller and football great O.J. Simpson of Southern California in the NCAA 60 sprint, matching the meet record of 6.0 set by Nebraska's Charlie Greene.

The two-day meet, dominated by Villanova's relay strength which squeezed 16 points from the three baton events, produced five NCAA records while three meet marks were tied.

The inscription, "In God We Trust," first appeared on U.S. coins in 1864.

Boyce Wins In Church Tournament

Boyce whipped First Nazarene 16-6 behind Mike Ferguson's 7 points. In other games Grace UP topped Oakland Free Methodist 26-20, with D. Horger getting 8 points for the winners and Steve Lockhart 10 for the losers; First UP edged Central Methodist 21-19 with John Connell getting 16 for the winners and C. Smith 11 for the losers; Chester Nazarene drubbed First Methodist 23-12 with Cashdollar scoring 10 for the winners and Mike Ferguson a like number for the losers; LaCroft Nazarene beat St. Stephen's 18-11 with Cronin netting 8 for the winners and Ward 5 for the losers, and Glenmoor UP defeated St. Aloysius 20-15 with Jim Tipton scoring 10 for the winners and Brendan Hoffman and Arcuragi getting 5 each for the losers.

In Friday's games, St. Al's opened with a 33-4 whipping of Chester Methodist. First UP topped St. Ann's 20-14, First Nazarene beat Chester Christian 19-10, Oakland Free Methodist thumped Calvary Methodist 21-10, Trinity UP slammed First Church of Chirst 34-15 and Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist beat St. John's Lutheran 19-11.

Alvin Dark Plans Day As Golfer

"We'll hit a little and have a meeting," Dark said Sunday after the Indians beat the California Angels, 3-2, in a Cactus League game. "Then I want to say hello to my old friends. I hope everybody does."

The victory raised the Tribe's exhibition record to 5-4 and all victories have been by one run. Rookie Dave Nelson tripled and scored the deciding tally on an infield grounder in the eighth inning against California.

"Sam was great," he said. "Do you realize he threw 12 strikes in his first 14 pitches? He's doing everything we have asked of him—and then some."

Pavletich Leads Red Win Over O's

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two Cincinnati Reds, battling for starting positions, performed superbly again Sunday in pacing Cincinnati over Baltimore 7-5 in an exhibition baseball game here.

Don Pavletich smashed his third Grapefruit Season homer and added a single to bat in three runs and Alex Johnson rapped a double, single and a sacrifice fly.

Pavletich, vying for the regular catching spot with rookie John Bench, put the Reds ahead 2-0 in the second on his home run and batted in a third run later to help Cincinnati run its record to 7-1, including the last six straight.

Bruins Keep Up In NHL

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just as the Boston Bruins were about to die, the corpse staged a miraculous recovery.

Locked in a three-way battle for second place in the National Hockey League's East Division with New York and Chicago and with one fewer game left than either the Rangers or Black Hawks, the Bruins were in deep trouble Sunday night.

They trailed Montreal, the division's runaway leader, 1-0 with time running out. New York had already beaten Pittsburgh 3-0 and Chicago was on its way to a 4-1 victory over Oakland. A Boston loss would have dumped the Bruins unceremoniously into fourth place.

But instead of flopping to fourth, the Bruins rallied for three goals in the final 2½ minutes, beat the Canadiens 3-1, and clung to their share of second.

In other NHL games Sunday, Minnesota walloped Detroit 5-1 and Philadelphia ripped Toronto 7-4.

In Saturday's games, Montreal defeated Pittsburgh 6-4, Toronto blanked Boston 3-0, Detroit dropped St. Louis 6-3 and Los Angeles nipped Minnesota 2-1.

Gump Worsley, injured Saturday night against Pittsburgh, took over for Vachon and was beaten by rookie Derek Sanderson for the lead goal. Then Phil Esposito hit an empty net for the wrapup goal.

The victory gave Boston 80 points, the same as New York and one more than Chicago. The Bruins have five games remaining while the Rangers and Black Hawks each have six.

New York finished its business with the expansion West Division by beating Pittsburgh as goalie Ed Giacomin chalked up his eighth shutout. The victory gave the Rangers a 17-4-3 log against the West—best record of any East club against the new division.

Jean Ratelle's 31st goal started New York off and Orland Kurtenbach and Phil Goyette also scored for the Rangers.

Minnesota blitzed Detroit's Roger Crozier with 49 shots and whipped the Red Wings to move into a tie for third place in the West with idle St. Louis.

Springfield Team Takes 2nd Pin Spot

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—There was only one change over the weekend among the division leaders in the Ohio State Bowling Association's 64th annual tournament here.

East High Carry-Out of Springfield took over the No. 2 spot in the team handicap events by rolling a 3,041.

Youngstown Bowlers Lead ABC

CINCINNATI (AP)—Bankers Life Casualty Co. of Youngstown, Ohio, racked up a 2,985 series Sunday to snatch the lead in the Regular Team Division of the American Bowling Congress tourney.

The Bankers opened up with games of 1,049 and 1,024 and appeared to be heading to a big margin in the division. But they tumbled to 912 in the finale and dislodged by a mere five pins Associated Graphics of Detroit which had topped the standings for a week with 2,980.

A splinter-thin teen-ager with a beatle haircut cut loose for 738 behind 24 strikes and games of 279, 241 and 218 to move into first in regular singles.

Indians Long Shot For 1st Division

By JIM CHURCH
Associated Press Sports Write

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians hope a couple of trades and a new brand of golf ball justice can snap them out of the second division. But it's a long shot.

The Indians have a new manager in Alvin Dark, a stark contrast to Joe Adcock, who cracked the whip.

"This man treats you like a human being," catcher Joe Azcue said of Dark, who managed Kansas City to a last-place finish in the American League last year.

"It was like a concentration camp last year," said outfielder Leon Wagner. "He would fine guys $50, $100, $150 for missing signs."

"I guess I've fined fewer players than any manager in baseball," Dark said. The biggest fine, he said, was a case of golf balls for missing curfew.

Dark buys the golf balls wholesale and gives them to players and coaches who want to play on their days off. Players who don't play golf, he said, probably would escape with a reprimand.

The Indians, who won their last pennant in 1954, slipped to eighth last season, 17 games behind Boston.

"I've got to see the pitchers in at least five outings and it's too early to tell about the young players," he said. "I'm still finding out what kind of material we have."

The biggest of many problems is second base. The position is up for grabs between Vern Fuller, who hit .233 last season, Pedro Gonzalez .228, Chico Salmon .227, and Chuck Hinton .245. Fuller and Gonzalez played 64 games each last season.

Azcue .256, and Duke Sims .202, will share the catching duties. Ken Suarez, who hit .238 in 39 games for Kansas City, may make it as a third catcher.

The Indians have great hopes for Davis, who missed all last season with a foot injury. In 1965 he hit 33 home runs and batted .311 at Portland, Ore. in the Pacific Coast League and in 1966 he split the season between Cleveland and Portland.

The acquisition of Jose Vardenal from California and Tommy Harper from Cincinnati give the Indians plenty of speed in the outfield. Cardenal hit .236 for the Angels and Harper slumped to .225 for the Reds.

Rich Scheinblum, a rookie who hit .291 with 16 homers for Portland, and Jose Vidal, up for his third chance with Cleveland, are hopeful of sticking.

Pitchers Sam McDowell, Sonny Siebert, Luis Tiant and Steve Hargan give the Indians an excellent starting four. The team still hopes for greatness from the fireballing McDowell, who was 13-15 with a 3.85 earned run average last year.

Tiant was 12-9 and Siebert was 10-12. Hargan pitched well enough early last season to make the All-Star team and finished at 14-13.

Best of the young hurlers in spring training has been Tom Gramly, 22, who was 14-9 at Portland.

Braves Cut Blanchard

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

John Blanchard, a spectacular pinch hitter during the New York Yankees' years of greatness, is on his way back to the minors, his comeback try a failure.

"Tony's going to be okay," Red Sox Manager Dick Williams said Sunday after Conigliaro's 400-foot double had ignited a decisive rally in Boston's 3-2 exhibition baseball victory over World Series rival St. Louis at St. Petersburg, Fla.

"He's standing up there without flinching," Williams said. "I've been watching him, and he's going to make it."

But for Blanchard, 35 and trying a comeback after two years away, it was a different, sadder story. He was one of 11 players cut by the Atlanta Braves at West Palm Beach, Fla. after dropping a 9-3 decision to Washington.

"I tried to make it because I love the game," he said. "I missed it. I wanted to play some more, maybe then catch on as a coach or manager."

In the other Florida games, Cincinnati clipped Baltimore 7-5 at Miami, Houston edged Minnesota 7-6 at Orlando, the Yankees beat Los Angeles 3-1 at Fort Lauderdale, Oakland nipped the New York Mets 3-2 at Bradenton, Pittsburgh blanked Philadelphia 5-0 at Fort Myers and Detroit hammered the Chicago White Sox 8-4 at Lakeland.

In Arizona, Cleveland edged California 3-2 and San Francisco defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-1.

Conigliaro hit 20 home runs before being sidelined for the last seven weeks of the 1967 season with a fractured cheek bone and double vision after being hit by a pitched ball.

He started Boston's two-run rally against the Cards' Steve Carlton with a double in the ninth. Reggie Smith followed with a triple and Rico Petrocelli's sacrifice fly won it. It was only the second loss of the spring for the champion Cardinals.

Washington jumped on Atlanta pitcher Tony Cloninger for seven runs and eight hits—including a three-run homer by Mike Epstein—in three innings and coasted in.

Don Pavletich drove in three runs with a homer, his third of the spring, and a single in Cincinnati's easy conquest of Baltimore.

Hal King had four RBI on a double and a single and led Houston past Minnesota. Rookie Graig Nettles drove in four Twins' runs, three on a homer.

Pinch hitter John Donaldson's single drove in two seventh inning runs and sewed up Oakland's victory over the Mets. Diego Segui got credit for the A's sixth victory of the spring.

Matty Alou doubled in two runs and Roberto Clemente's double sent across another, while Tom Sisk pitched five innings of shutout ball in Pittsburgh's victory over Philadelphia.

Jim Northrup was the big gun for Detroit, driving in four runs against the White Sox on a homer and a triple. Earl Wilson worked five shutout innings.

Cleveland rookie Dave Nelson broke a 2-2 tie against the Angels when he tripled and scored on a ground ball in the eighth inning.

Sparkling pitching by righthanders Ron Herbel and Bob Bolin took San Francisco by the Cubs. Herbel allowed only one hit in four innings and Bolin gave up only two more the rest of the way.

Majors May Expand To 24 Teams By 1969

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Hints of imminent National League expansion circulated freely Sunday. This followed published reports that the American League will split into two six-team divisions next year.

American League sources however, denied the divisional setup has been formalized. National League club owners, reportedly panicked by the AL plan, remained mum on the possibility of 1969 expansion.

A National League committee will meet to discuss expanions before the regular spring session of the major league's Executive Council Wednesday and Thursday. If expansion to 12 teams in 1969 is recommended by the NL committee, it will be put before the league club owners sometime next month.

Published accounts have stated that the American League would announce within 30 days a two-division split in 1969, with a pennant playoff between the division winners.

The reports said the American League already had notified the National League of the move, triggering a series of frantic secret meetings of NL club owners.

Ohio State Cinderella Team In NCAA Finals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The last time Ohio State got this far in an NCAA basketball tournament, the Buckeyes were expected to go all the way.

This time around, they're the Cinderella team that seemingly finished the season two week ago.

Instead, the Buckeyes finished the season for fifth-ranked Kentucky Saturday night in the Wildcats' own den with an 82-81 upset that earned them a ticket to Los Angeles and the final weekend of college basketball's biggest show.

"It was a real thrill to beat a good Kentucky team when it had a good game—a real good game—right on its own floor," said Coach Fred Taylor, who won the NCAA crown in 1960 with his Jerry Lucas - John Havlicek team, then suffered through upset losses to Cincinnati the next two years.

"We beat one of the best. Now we go out to California and go after them. But it will be rough," said junior Steve Howell, one of the Buckeyes' stars in the wild weekend in Lexington.

"Them" is the rest of the semifinal field—Houston, UCLA and North Carolina. The Buckeyes play Carolina Friday night, at 10 p.m., EST, then—win or lose—take on one of the season's super teams the next night.

Saturday night they beat Kentucky's legendary Coach Adolph Rupp for only the 28th time at home in his three decades as coach.

Rupp had predicted a tough battle before the game, but afterward he was more frank when he told one reporter: "We thought we'd win easily, by about 12 points."

Apparently he wasn't counting on the Buckeyes' deadeye shooting, powerful rebounding and heady play in the clutch.

Sophomore Dave Sorenson settled it when he took captain Bill Hosket's pass on an out-of-bounds play and banked in a short jump shot with five seconds to play. That gave Sorenson 24 points for the game, and he was named the regional's most valuable player. Hosket joined him on the all-tournament team.

Despite the quarter break on campus, several hundred students and fans greeted the Buckeyes when they flew in from Lexington Sunday. The team flies to Los Angeles Thursday morning, and 1,000 tournament tickets are on sale today and Tuesday at St. John Arena for fans who want to follow.

Sophomore James Leads Villanova Track Victory

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — In this Olympic year, a youth movement emerged crisply from last weekend's NCAA Indoor Track and Field Meet with three winning sophomores—two in world record fashion—and two freshmen scoring impressive triumphs.

Larry James, tabbed by team-mates "Mighty Bird," was the sophomore kingpin of Villanova's surge to the team title with a meet high of 35 1-3 points dethroning Southern California, runnerup with 25.

James, who whirled the fastest 440 on an 11-lap board track at 47.0, also anchored Villanova's one mile relay team to an NCAA record 3:14.4 victory.

Another sophomore, Bob Beamon of Texas-El Paso, became a prime Olympic broad jump prospect with another all-time indoor best—27-2¾—and also won the triple jump to join famed Jim Ryun of Kansas as the meet's doubles winners.

Ryun won the mile Saturday at a straggly 4:06.8 after the world outdoor record holder at 1,500 meters, the mile and 880, won the two-mile Friday night.

Villanova's freshman, Martin Liquori, won an invitational mile in 4:05 and said he will try for a 1:500-meter Olympic berth.

Another freshman, Jim Green of Kentucky, whipped such swifties as Lennox Miller and football great O.J. Simpson of Southern California in the NCAA 60 sprint, matching the meet record of 6.0 set by Nebraska's Charlie Greene.

The two-day meet, dominated by Villanova's relay strength which squeezed 16 points from the three baton events, produced five NCAA records while three meet marks were tied.

Record performances included Harvard's fine two-mile relay triumph in 7:26.8 and Villanova's one mile relay clocking of 3:14.4.

The inscription, "In God We Trust," first appeared on U.S. coins in 1864.

Boyce Wins In Church Tournament

Boyce whipped First Nazarene 16-6 behind Mike Ferguson's 7 points. In other games Grace UP topped Oakland Free Methodist 26-20, with D. Horger getting 8 points for the winners and Steve Lockhart 10 for the losers; First UP edged Central Methodist 21-19 with John Connell getting 16 for the winners and C. Smith 11 for the losers; Chester Nazarene drubbed First Methodist 23-12 with Cashdollar scoring 10 for the winners and Mike Ferguson a like number for the losers; LaCroft Nazarene beat St. Stephen's 18-11 with Cronin netting 8 for the winners and Ward 5 for the losers, and Glenmoor UP defeated St. Aloysius 20-15 with Jim Tipton scoring 10 for the winners and Brendan Hoffman and Arcuragi getting 5 each for the losers.

In Friday's games, St. Al's opened with a 33-4 whipping of Chester Methodist. First UP topped St. Ann's 20-14, First Nazarene beat Chester Christian 19-10, Oakland Free Methodist thumped Calvary Methodist 21-10, Trinity UP slammed First Church of Chirst 34-15 and Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist beat St. John's Lutheran 19-11.

Pavletich Leads Red Win Over O's

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two Cincinnati Reds, battling for starting positions, performed superbly again Sunday in pacing Cincinnati over Baltimore 7-5 in an exhibition baseball game here.

Don Pavletich smashed his third Grapefruit Season homer and added a single to bat in three runs and Alex Johnson rapped a double, single and a sacrifice fly.

Pavletich, vying for the regular catching spot with rookie John Bench, put the Reds ahead 2-0 in the second on his home run and batted in a third run later to help Cincinnati run its record to 7-1, including the last six straight.

Alvin Dark Plans Day As Golfer

"We'll hit a little and have a meeting," Dark said Sunday after the Indians beat the California Angels, 3-2, in a Cactus League game. "Then I want to say hello to my old friends. I hope everybody does."

Dark's old friends are the greens and tees at the course.

The victory raised the Tribe's exhibition record to 5-4 and all victories have been by one run. Rookie Dave Nelson tripled and scored the deciding tally on an infield grounder in the eighth inning against California.

Dark was pleased with that, but also happy with the pitching performance of Sam McDowell.

"Sam was great," he said. "Do you realize he threw 12 strikes in his first 14 pitches? He's doing everything we have asked of him—and then some."

Bruins Keep Up In NHL

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just as the Boston Bruins were about to die, the corpse staged a miraculous recovery.

Locked in a three-way battle for second place in the National Hockey League's East Division with New York and Chicago and with one fewer game left than either the Rangers or Black Hawks, the Bruins were in deep trouble Sunday night.

They trailed Montreal, the division's runaway leader, 1-0 with time running out. New York had already beaten Pittsburgh 3-0 and Chicago was on its way to a 4-1 victory over Oakland. A Boston loss would have dumped the Bruins unceremoniously into fourth place.

But instead of flopping to fourth, the Bruins rallied for three goals in the final 2½ minutes, beat the Canadiens 3-1, and clung to their share of second.

In other NHL games Sunday, Minnesota walloped Detroit 5-1 and Philadelphia ripped Toronto 7-4.

In Saturday's games, Montreal defeated Pittsburgh 6-4, Toronto blanked Boston 3-0, Detroit dropped St. Louis 6-3 and Los Angeles nipped Minnesota 2-1.

Fred Stanfield's goal with 2:21 left to play got the Bruins even with Montreal and knocked out goalie Rogatien Vachon, who was hit by a stick as the puck went into the net.

Gump Worsley, injured Saturday night against Pittsburgh, took over for Vachon and was beaten by rookie Derek Sanderson for the lead goal. Then Phil Esposito hit an empty net for the wrapup goal.

The victory gave Boston 80 points, the same as New York and one more than Chicago. The Bruins have five games remaining while the Rangers and Black Hawks each have six.

New York finished its business with the expansion West Division by beating Pittsburgh as goalie Ed Giacomin chalked up his eighth shutout. The victory gave the Rangers a 17-4-3 log against the West—best record of any East club against the new division.

Jean Ratelle's 31st goal started New York off and Orland Kurtenbach and Phil Goyette also scored for the Rangers.

Bobby Hull scored his 44th goal of the year and assisted on another goal as the Hawks backed strong goaltending by rookie Jack Norris with a victory over Oakland.

Minnesota blitzed Detroit's Roger Crozier with 49 shots and whipped the Red Wings to move into a tie for third place in the West with idle St. Louis.

The game attracted 14,495 fans—Minnesota's eighth sellout of the season—and raised the North Stars' home attendance over 400,000.

Springfield Team Takes 2nd Pin Spot

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—There was only one change over the weekend among the division leaders in the Ohio State Bowling Association's 64th annual tournament here.

East High Carry-Out of Springfield took over the No. 2 spot in the team handicap events by rolling a 3,041.

Youngstown Bowlers Lead ABC

CINCINNATI (AP)—Bankers Life Casualty Co. of Youngstown, Ohio, racked up a 2,985 series Sunday to snatch the lead in the Regular Team Division of the American Bowling Congress tourney.

The Bankers opened up with games of 1,049 and 1,024 and appeared to be heading to a big margin in the division. But they tumbled to 912 in the finale and dislodged by a mere five pins Associated Graphics of Detroit which had topped the standings for a week with 2,980.

A splinter-thin teen-ager with a beatle haircut cut loose for 738 behind 24 strikes and games of 279, 241 and 218 to move into first in regular singles.

Debuting in the ABC, Wayne Kowalski, 19, of Revere Mass., displaced Rob Babjar, an Oregon University student, who had led the division with a 710 for four days.

Bob Gibson Main Speaker At Lisbon Sports Dinner

By PAUL YOUNG

LISBON — College coaches recruiting athletes look for young people with character, coach Bob Gibson of Bowling Green told 285 persons Saturday night at the annual all - sports banquet in Lincoln school.

"They want players with three bones — funnyboone, wishbone and backbone," said Gibson, who developed championship teams at Leetonia and East Liverpool before going to BGSU as line coach in 1956.

Gibson resigned as Bowling Green's head football coach last fall after posing a 19-9 record in three seasons as head man. He said recruiting is a phase of the job he will miss greatly.

The Blue Devils Mothers Club served the dinner which the Boosters Club sponsors annually for Lisbon high school athletic teams, managers and cheerleaders.

Gibson told the athletes they are "marked persons" in the eyes of their schoolmates, especially the youngsters. "Your actions are watched by the younger kids."

He told the youths to take advantage of the educational opportunities at high school. "Education comes first, so get those grades — take it from a guy who knows from personal experience and from watching athletes over the years," Gibson said.

He was quarterback of the Youngstown College Penguins for four years, graduating in 1950. He said teammate Joe Driscoll, now superintendent of Lisbon schools, was known as "The Trapper" on the Penguin team and was one of the finest guards Youngstown ever had.

GIBSON SAID he has never been associated with a finer coach than Edwin (Bud) Bucher of Lisbon, and he commented on the loyalty Lisbon fans show to their teams. "I think that has been a trademark of this community," he said.

Mayor Clyde B. Pike was m.c. The Rev. William V. Ring said table grace and the Rev. Foster Lewis pronounced the benediction.

Coaches introduced were Barry James, junior high; Everett Lambert, freshman basketball; Joseph Carlucci, reserve basketball; Gary Pike, head basketball; Bucher, head football; John Vaglia, track; and Robert (Chick) Ashton, golf. Recognition was also given three boosters who assisted with the football team — Walter (Zip) McDevitt, Wilfred Carlisle and Ralph (Mickey) McDevitt.

Pike said his 1967-68 team was an "enjoyable squad" to work with. "They worked hard, got along well together and were unselfish, with four players averaging in the double figures for the season," he said. The Blue Devils had a 9-10 record. The coach said he was particularly proud of the team's tournament game against Springfield Local, which is still in the running for the State Class A crown.

FELIX (Butch) RUTECKI of the booster club and Coach Pike presented special trophies to three cagers — Bill Hartman, Tri-County League second team, and Mike Rutecki and Stan Barefield, both Tri-County honorable mention. All are seniors.

Bucher said the 1967 football team is "hard to talk about without growing sentimental." "They had a wonderful attitude and spirit and gave me probably my most gratifying season. It was the hardest-hitting team I have had the privilege of coaching." Lisbon had a 9-1 record and shared the Tri-County crown with Minerva. Rutecki and Bucher presented individual trophies to each player and special awards to the following who received county, Tri-County or state recognition:

Roger Corwell, Bill Farmer, Bill Hartman, James Morgan, John Morgan, Charles Pastore, Mike Rutecki and Gary Toot. All are seniors except Farmer and Pastore, juniors, who have been selected 1968 co-captains. "You have got two good ones there," Bucher said of the team's selection.

Jim Morgan, a guard, and Toot, a halfback, received recognition on mythical all - Ohio class A teams. They and Rutecki were LHS tri-captains last season.

The boosters presented a special trophy to Bucher who in 20 seasons has achieved a record of 132 wins, 54 losses and 5 ties.

NY Knicks Clinch Spot In Playoffs

By The Associated Press

Well, maybe not that high but they are higher than they have been since the 1958-59 National Basketball Association season.

New York, which finished second in 1958-59, clinched third place in the Eastern Division Sunday when they trounced San Francisco 130-104 and Los Angeles edged Detroit 120-116.

Baltimore outlasted Boston 147-139 and Chicago topped San Diego 129-121 in other NBA games Sunday.

Saturday, Philadelphia trounced Chicago 144-122, Boston blasted Baltimore 136-111, Los Angeles whipped Detroit 135-108 and St. Louis downed Seattle 124-106.

Dave Bing did his best to keep Detroit in the fight for third, but a Los Angeles surge in the final seven minutes gained the victory for the Lakers.

Baltimore moved to its victory over Boston by scoring 12 straight points in the fourth quarter. Leroy Ellis scored 32 points, 14 in the last quarter, and Jack Margin 28, 12 in the finale, to lead Baltimore. John Havlicek paced Boston with 29.

San Diego was sent reeling to its 13th straight loss and 30 in the last 31 games when McCoy McLemore and Jim Barnes combined for 20 points to pull it out for Chicago in the fourth quarter. McLemore topped all scorers with 26. Henry Finkel led San Diego with 24.

Kentucky Fights For Playoff Spot

By The Associated Press

Dallas, with an American Basketball Association playoff berth secure, has suddenly caught fire and is now in a battle to win the West.

But in the East, the sizzling Kentucky Colonels, although winning their seventh straight game, still trail in the fight for the last playoff spot.

The Dallas Chaparrals reeled off their fourth consecutive victory, 115-93 over Oakland, and Western Division leader New Orleans dropped a 104-101 decision to Minnesota. The Bucs' loss cut their lead to 1½ games over Dallas.

Dallas has three games remaining, New Orleans four.

Kentucky kept its string alive with a 115-107 victory over Anaheim Sunday and moved to within one game of the idle New Jersey Americans for the fourth position in the Eastern Division. Each club has three games remaining.

Dallas got 38 points from Cincy Powell as the Chaps overpowered Oakland. It was the 13th straight loss for the Oaks, who are buried in the West basement. Ron Franz topped Oakland with 23 points.

Kentucky's flashy guards, Louie Dampier and Darel Carrier, combined for 47 points in the Colonels victory.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Coloring The Candidates

According to Gene Hibbs, who is probably Hollywood's top makeup artist, the political candidates need expert makeup jobs done on their phizes this year more than ever because of color TV.

Hal Humphrey

"Everyone looks better on color TV, but makeup is noticed more on color, so it must be made to look more natural. Too much eye makeup in color, for example, will give the male an effeminate look," says Gene.

-:-

GLANCING at the field of presidential candidates (announced and potential), Gene cites George Wallace, Ronald Reagan and Richard Nixon as the three needing expert makeup jobs the most before appearing in front of the TV cameras.

"Gov. Reagan is getting prominent jaw pouches which don't look good," Gene says, "and they could be corrected on TV with a darker makeup base in that area. I don't know, but I imagine Reagan does his own makeup, and he shouldn't.

"Nixon should know how important makeup is for him after that first debate with John Kennedy on TV. He has that blue-black heavy beard which must be toned down, but not made to look as if it had been worked on. Most politicians rely on the regular studio people at the TV station for their makeup and they shouldn't.

"AS FOR WALLACE, he also has a heavy beard and is very dark under the eyes, and he looks pretty grim without the right makeup, especially in color," states Gene.

He believes Sen. Eugene McCarthy could use some red in his face to give it warmth and that Nelson Rockefeller also looks a "little pasty," although he has a good face generally.

By NBC's latest count there are now 14,870 million color TV sets in American homes, which means 26.3 per cent of all TV households. That is a substantial enough number of color sets to concern any candidate for political office.

AS FOR the present tenant in the White House, Gene thinks his makeup is about right, but Gene's wife believes LBJ overdoes it. He did look quite pretty-pretty the night he delivered his State of the Union message, and several commentators on TV noted Johnson's new hairdo.

Hubert Humphrey needs more color in his face, Gene believes, although he says it must be added subtly, because if there's too much makeup it changes the person's looks. The art of makeup, Gene emphasizes, is to make it look as if there is no makeup.

Gene says also that candidates should have a makeup man with them when they're traveling, so that when they debark from an airplane they look right for the TV newsreel men.

"AS THE CAMPAIGN wears on the candidates get more tired and the lighting at those airports is usually bad, too," Gene explains.

Naturally, you can only help with makeup, adds Gene, because the man himself must come through to the viewer. George Romney is a case in point. Gene says he had "a pretty good face," but it didn't do him any good.

At the same time, however, the average politician, according to Gene, doesn't think enough about how he appears on TV. Gene has been spending most of his time the past two seasons doing Eva Gabor on "Green Acres," and recently Eddie Albert, the series' costar, asked Gene if he couldn't help Jesse Unruh, speaker of the California State Assembly, who's been thinking of running for U. S. senator.

"UNRUH is jowly, and could use help, but it took an actor to recommend it. The politician doesn't think he needs it, but most of them do. Makeup can be very important, as Nixon found out," reminds Gene.

Also, those politicians whose faces tend to get red if they get mad must be doubly careful now because the red shows up on color TV. That is, assuming your TV color is tuned properly. To a lot of color viewers everybody, including politicians, is suffering from green pallor or yellow jaundice.

Thief Obtains $100 In Entry At Gas Station

Kenneth Rogers, manager of Rogers Sunoco Service Station at E. 6th St. and Broadway, told officers at 3 p.m. Saturday that the thief gained entry to a small office in the attic of the station and removed the cash from a box.

The loot included 20 $1 bills, four $5 bills and the balance in change, officers said. The theft apparently took place between 12:15 and 6 a.m. Saturday. There was no sign of a forcible entry, officers said.

In another entry discovered Sunday morning at the Cornell Garage on State St., an intruder smashed three dozen eggs on the floor and ransacked desks, leaving the office a "shambles," police said.

The glove compartments of two trucks also were ransacked, officers said. The entry took place between 6 p. m. Saturday and 5 a. m. Sunday. Entrance was gained by breaking a window in the west end of the building.

Frederick Brandon of Market St. told officers early Sunday an unknown person pulled the hasp and lock from the front door of his apartment, but nothing was taken. The damage occurred between 2:30 p.m. Saturday and 1:01 a.m. Sunday.

A burglary also was discovered Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Marie Woods of 817 State St. Relatives told police Mrs. Woods has been out of town for a month. The intruder tore the screen from a window and then removed the window to gain entry, but nothing apparently was taken, officers said.

No Leads Found By Policemen In Woman's Death

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Warren County police were still investigating today the recent, mysterious death of a woman from nearby Hamilton but they said they had "no good leads."

Several persons have been questioned in the slaying of Jenila Haynes, 29, but no clues have been turned up and no murder weapon has been found.

The body of the woman was found early Saturday by two young boys living in the area and it was identified hours later by her husband Doyle. The boys found the body near a torn down house in what police have described a "lover's lane," located about one mile from here off Ohio 25.

Mrs. Haynes was clad only in a mini-dress when found dead, police said, and she had been beaten severely.

Police said the slaying probably occurred some time Friday night. The woman was last seen about 1:30 p.m. Friday when she left to go shopping.

Skindiver Drowns

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A young man skindiving in a quarry near suburban Maumee drowned Sunday. He was identified as John V. Blake, 21, Toledo.

The DOCTOR Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT

Is your child of school age so overactive that he is unable to concentrate? This is a handicap that affects about 4 per cent of all grade school children, according to Dr. Mark Stewart, director of psychiatry at the St. Louis Children's Hospital.

Dr. Brandstadt

These youngsters are unable to sit still even long enough to watch a television show; they talk in class without permission and are rude to the teacher; they wear out their toys and their clothes faster than a normally active child; they run into a busy street without looking for approaching traffic; they get into fights and generally misbehave.

—:—

LIFE IS HARD for these children and also for their parents, who are likely to blame themselves for having spoiled their child so grievously. In a search for the cause of this illness, for Dr. Stewart believes there can be no doubt that it is an illness, heredity has been found to be a factor in some cases. It was thought at first that these children had some form of brain damage, but the most recent study indicates that it is instead a delay in the psyiological development of the brain.

THE CAUSE IS still unknown but a hopeful aspect of the situation is that the child usually outgrows his hyperactivity between the ages of 10 and 12. One surprising discovery is that depressant drugs given to quiet these children aggravate their condition while stimulating drugs bring about a prompt improvement in behavior and school accomplishment. These children never become studious types, but they settle down into a more nearly normal behavior pattern.

—:—

THE PARENTS of such a child must learn to treat him with firmness tempered by kindness. They must relax their previous behavior and set a goal for the child that he can achieve. Even though he will never be scholarly, he may in later life become an excellent salesman or athlete.

Q—My son's tonsils were removed when he was 5. He is now 14 and they have grown back again. My doctor advises radium treatments to shrink them. He said it would be harmful to remove the tonsils at his age. What do you think?

A—Age in itself is no reason for not removing tonsils that have become so large that they interfere with swallowing. A new method of treating them that is gaining in favor is cryosurgery or rapid freezing.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Well, maybe not that high but they are higher than they have been since the 1958-59 National Basketball Association season.

New York, which finished second in 1958-59, clinched third place in the Eastern Division Sunday when they trounced San Francisco 130-104 and Los Angeles edged Detroit 120-116.

Detroit now is tied with Cincinnati for the fourth and final playoff spot in the East, with two games remaining for each team.

Baltimore outlasted Boston 147-139 and Chicago topped San Diego 129-121 in other NBA games Sunday.

Saturday, Philadelphia trounced Chicago 144-122, Boston blasted Baltimore 136-111, Los Angeles whipped Detroit 135-108 and St. Louis downed Seattle 124-106.

Seven players hit double figures as the Knicks, leading only 58-56 at halftime, turned the game into a rout by building up a 93-78 margin at the end of three quarters.

Dave Bing did his best to keep Detroit in the fight for third, but a Los Angeles surge in the final seven minutes gained the victory for the Lakers.

Baltimore moved to its victory over Boston by scoring 12 straight points in the fourth quarter. Leroy Ellis scored 32 points, 14 in the last quarter, and Jack Margin 28, 12 in the finale, to lead Baltimore. John Havlicek paced Boston with 29.

San Diego was sent reeling to its 13th straight loss and 30 in the last 31 games when McCoy McLemore and Jim Barnes combined for 20 points to pull it out for Chicago in the fourth quarter. McLemore topped all scorers with 26. Henry Finkel led San Diego with 24.

Kentucky Fights For Playoff Spot

By The Associated Press

Dallas, with an American Basketball Association playoff berth secure, has suddenly caught fire and is now in a battle to win the West.

But in the East, the sizzling Kentucky Colonels, although winning their seventh straight game, still trail in the fight for the last playoff spot.

The Dallas Chaparrals reeled off their fourth consecutive victory, 115-93 over Oakland, and Western Division leader New Orleans dropped a 104-101 decision to Minnesota. The Bucs' loss cut their lead to 1½ games over Dallas.

Dallas has three games remaining, New Orleans four.

Kentucky kept its string alive with a 115-107 victory over Anaheim Sunday and moved to within one game of the idle New Jersey Americans for the fourth position in the Eastern Division. Each club has three games remaining.

Dallas got 38 points from Cincy Powell as the Chaps overpowered Oakland. It was the 13th straight loss for the Oaks, who are buried in the West basement. Ron Franz topped Oakland with 23 points.

Kentucky's flashy guards, Louie Dampier and Darel Carrier, combined for 47 points in the Colonels victory.

Coloring The Candidates

According to Gene Hibbs, who is probably Hollywood's top makeup artist, the political candidates need expert makeup jobs done on their phizes this year more than ever because of color TV.

Hal Humphrey

"Everyone looks better on color TV, but makeup is noticed more on color, so it must be made to look more natural. Too much eye makeup in color, for example, will give the male an effeminate look," says Gene.

-:-

GLANCING at the field of presidential candidates (announced and potential), Gene cites George Wallace, Ronald Reagan and Richard Nixon as the three needing expert makeup jobs the most before appearing in front of the TV cameras.

"Gov. Reagan is getting prominent jaw pouches which don't look good," Gene says, "and they could be corrected on TV with a darker makeup base in that area. I don't know, but I imagine Reagan does his own makeup, and he shouldn't.

"Nixon should know how important makeup is for him after that first debate with John Kennedy on TV. He has that blue-black heavy beard which must be toned down, but not made to look as if it had been worked on. Most politicians rely on the regular studio people at the TV station for their makeup and they shouldn't.

"AS FOR WALLACE, he also has a heavy beard and is very dark under the eyes, and he looks pretty grim without the right makeup, especially in color," states Gene.

He believes Sen. Eugene McCarthy could use some red in his face to give it warmth and that Nelson Rockefeller also looks a "little pasty," although he has a good face generally.

By NBC's latest count there are now 14,870 million color TV sets in American homes, which means 26.3 per cent of all TV households. That is a substantial enough number of color sets to concern any candidate for political office.

AS FOR the present tenant in the White House, Gene thinks his makeup is about right, but Gene's wife believes LBJ overdoes it. He did look quite pretty-pretty the night he delivered his State of the Union message, and several commentators on TV noted Johnson's new hairdo.

Hubert Humphrey needs more color in his face, Gene believes, although he says it must be added subtly, because if there's too much makeup it changes the person's looks. The art of makeup, Gene emphasizes, is to make it look as if there is no makeup.

Gene says also that candidates should have a makeup man with them when they're traveling, so that when they debark from an airplane they look right for the TV newsreel men.

"AS THE CAMPAIGN wears on the candidates get more tired and the lighting at those airports is usually bad, too," Gene explains.

Naturally, you can only help with makeup, adds Gene, because the man himself must come through to the viewer. George Romney is a case in point. Gene says he had "a pretty good face," but it didn't do him any good.

At the same time, however, the average politician, according to Gene, doesn't think enough about how he appears on TV. Gene has been spending most of his time the past two seasons doing Eva Gabor on "Green Acres," and recently Eddie Albert, the series' costar, asked Gene if he couldn't help Jesse Unruh, speaker of the California State Assembly, who's been thinking of running for U. S. senator.

"UNRUH is jowly, and could use help, but it took an actor to recommend it. The politician doesn't think he needs it, but most of them do. Makeup can be very important, as Nixon found out," reminds Gene.

Also, those politicians whose faces tend to get red if they get mad must be doubly careful now because the red shows up on color TV. That is, assuming your TV color is tuned properly. To a lot of color viewers everybody, including politicians, is suffering from green pallor or yellow jaundice.

Kenneth Rogers, manager of Rogers Sunoco Service Station at E. 6th St. and Broadway, told officers at 3 p.m. Saturday that the thief gained entry to a small office in the attic of the station and removed the cash from a box.

The loot included 20 $1 bills, four $5 bills and the balance in change, officers said. The theft apparently took place between 12:15 and 6 a.m. Saturday. There was no sign of a forcible entry, officers said.

In another entry discovered Sunday morning at the Cornell Garage on State St., an intruder smashed three dozen eggs on the floor and ransacked desks, leaving the office a "shambles," police said.

The glove compartments of two trucks also were ransacked, officers said. The entry took place between 6 p. m. Saturday and 5 a. m. Sunday. Entrance was gained by breaking a window in the west end of the building.

Frederick Brandon of Market St. told officers early Sunday an unknown person pulled the hasp and lock from the front door of his apartment, but nothing was taken. The damage occurred between 2:30 p.m. Saturday and 1:01 a.m. Sunday.

A burglary also was discovered Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Marie Woods of 817 State St. Relatives told police Mrs. Woods has been out of town for a month. The intruder tore the screen from a window and then removed the window to gain entry, but nothing apparently was taken, officers said.

No Leads Found By Policemen In Woman's Death

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Warren County police were still investigating today the recent, mysterious death of a woman from nearby Hamilton but they said they had "no good leads."

Several persons have been questioned in the slaying of Jennila Haynes, 29, but no clues have been turned up and no murder weapon has been found.

The body of the woman was found early Saturday by two young boys living in the area and it was identified hours later by her husband Doyle. The boys found the body near a torn down house in what police have described a "lover's lane," located about one mile from here off Ohio 25.

Mrs. Haynes was clad only in a mini-dress when found dead, police said, and she had been beaten severely.

Police said the slaying probably occurred some time Friday night. The woman was last seen about 1:30 p.m. Friday when she left to go shopping.

Skindiver Drowns

The DOCTOR Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT

Is your child of school age so overactive that he is unable to concentrate? This is a handicap that affects about 4 per cent of all grade school children, according to Dr. Mark Stewart, director of psychiatry at the St. Louis Children's Hospital.

Dr. Brandstadt

These youngsters are unable to sit still even long enough to watch a television show; they talk in class without permission and are rude to the teacher; they wear out their toys and their clothes faster than a normally active child; they run into a busy street without looking for approaching traffic; they get into fights and generally misbehave.

LIFE IS HARD for these children and also for their parents, who are likely to blame themselves for having spoiled their child so grievously. In a search for the cause of this illness, for Dr. Stewart believes there can be no doubt that it is an illness, heredity has been found to be a factor in some cases. It was thought at first that these children had some form of brain damage, but the most recent study indicates that it is instead a delay in the psysiological development of the brain.

THE CAUSE IS still unknown but a hopeful aspect of the situation is that the child usually outgrows his hyperactivity between the ages of 10 and 12. One surprising discovery is that depressant drugs given to quiet these children aggravate their condition while stimulating drugs bring about a prompt improvement in behavior and school accomplishment. These children never become studious types, but they settle down into a more nearly normal behavior pattern.

THE PARENTS of such a child must learn to treat him with firmness tempered by kindness. They must relax their previous behavior and set a goal for the child that he can achieve. Even though he will never be scholarly, he may in later life become an excellent salesman or athlete.

Q—My son's tonsils were removed when he was 5. He is now 14 and they have grown back again. My doctor advises radium treatments to shrink them. He said it would be harmful to remove the tonsils at his age. What do you think?

A—Age in itself is no reason for not removing tonsils that have become so large that they interfere with swallowing. A new method of treaating them that is gaining in favor is cryosurgery or rapid freezing.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

A Junior Editors Quiz About UNDERWATER

ANSWER: We are so accustomed to think of odors wafting through the air that it seems strange to think of the same thing happening under the water. Yet the smells of things are composed of minute particles of their substance radiating out from them. Such little specks can move through water as well as air. Actually, fish have a good sense of smell and use it in connection with sight, hearing and touch to keep them informed about the goings on in their watery world. There is a little opening, the nostril, near the eye, where the smell particles can drift in and register themselves against a leaf-shaped smelling organ. A nerve then conveys this sensation to the brain. If a shark, for example, bites some fish, blood particles scatter through the water. Other sharks pick up the smell and quickly come over to get their share of the food. A mysterious sense possessed by fish is connected with the lateral line, marked on our drawing. Through organs in this area, fish can hear very low vibrations. For instance, they might hear the footsteps of a fisherman along the banks of the stream.
